Contempt Accusation Thrown Out By Judge

Sommers Sees New Campaign Against Him

TRAIL, B.C. (BUP)—Former Lands and Forests Minister Robert E. Sommers said the rejection of contempt action against two Vancouver newspapers and Conservative leader Deane Finlayson would mean the opposition would use the sturdy slander case imputations in their campaign against him.

Answering a newsman's question, Mr. Sommers also said "time will tell" whether he still will seek re-election. He is the Social Credit candidate in the Trail-Rossland riding.

At Vancouver, Mr. Finlayson said: "The verdict of the court has rendered impotent the massive propaganda machine of the Bennett regime and sluiced away its boasts, threats and intimidation... This verdict also upholds the right of free speech and proves again the inherent vitality in Canadian democracy."

Art Laing, B.C. Liberal leader said "I am delighted with the decision."

"This was no general protection for either politicians or newspapers—but had a decision other than this been reached it would have meant that politicians could use the courts in a manner which held the law in contempt."

George Gregory, counsel for lawyer David Sturdy in the Sommers-Sturdy suit, and Liberal nominee for re-election in Victoria, said:

"I am delighted to know that freedom of speech has been restored in this great land of ours."

Court Rules Finlayson Speech Was Attack on Premier Bennett

VANCOUVER (CP)—Applications to commit the leader of the Progressive Conservative party in British Columbia, the Vancouver Sun and the Vancouver Herald on contempt citations were rejected Tuesday in the B.C. Supreme Court.

Mr. Justice J. O. Wilson, delivering judgment three hours after conclusion of the speedy 1½-day hearing, ordered the plaintiff, former lands minister R. E. Sommers, to pay all costs of the action.

There was no evidence, he said, to suggest that any of the respondents intended to taint the source of justice or to prejudice a fair trial of Mr. Sommers' slander action against Vancouver lawyer David Sturdy.

IN LIMELIGHT

He said the fact that Mr. Sommers has made himself a candidate in the Sept. 19 provincial election "makes inevitable some exploration of his record as a (legislature) member and as a minister."

The contempt actions were brought by Alfred Bull, counsel for the former lands minister, following a political speech which Deane B.C. Progressive Conservative leader, Finlayson, made in North Vancouver last Monday and which was reported by the two newspapers.

In his address the Progressive Conservative leader read portions of the amended statement of defence which Mr. Sturdy filed against a slander suit launched by Mr. Sommers for statements the barrister made here before a royal commission on forestry last December.

Mr. Sturdy charged that Mr. Sommers was guilty of corruption in the discharge of his duties, and his statement of defence gave details of the charges.

The minister resigned from the cabinet Feb. 27 but retained his seat as Social Credit MLA for Rossland-Trail.

WORD OF WARNING

Mr. Justice Wilson couched his dismissal of the contempt applications with what he termed "a word of warning." He said in reading the verdict that Senator J. W. deB. Farris, counsel for the Vancouver Herald, had suggested

Decision Hailed by Diefenbaker

The Supreme Court decision in the Sturdy-Sommers contempt action was described here today by John Diefenbaker as a "momentous landmark in the continued fight for preservation of freedom under the parliamentary system."

"An abiding principle was at stake," Mr. Diefenbaker said, "that the wells of public information should not be dried up by a private action through the courts of a man in public life."

Mr. Diefenbaker, prominent Progressive Conservative who was defence counsel for B.C. party leader Deane Finlayson in the court action, was the overnight guest of Maj. Gen. G. R. Pearkes in Victoria.

He had intended spending a brief holiday on the west coast but left this morning for his home in Prince Albert, Sask. He will take no part in the B.C. election campaign.

Regarding the contempt decision Mr. Diefenbaker said:

THE EGGS AND (CLUCK) I

Favored contender in egg-laying contest leading up to opening of Saanichton fair Saturday is J. Armstrong's hen Hortense, who is keeping mind on her work, eye on calendar, and eggs in nest. To presstime 45 hens entered had 67 egg total to cluck about. All competitors said they felt like a million, but this total is unlikely.—(Eggs by Hortense, photo by Bill Halkett.)

Cairo Claims Britons Plotted To Oust Nasser

CAIRO (AP)—Cairo newspapers charged today that a British-directed spy ring had plotted to overthrow the Nasser regime with a coup d'etat similar to that which ousted Mohammed Mossadegh in Iran in 1953.

The Egyptians appeared to be setting the stage for a sensational international spy trial. All Cairo papers carried a report that James Swinburn, the Briton arrested as the alleged espionage ringleader, had confessed his group was plotting a coup d'etat. Since the report was carried in all papers, it appeared to have official sanction.

Ever since Nasser nationalized the Suez Canal, there has been a tendency here to compare Egypt today with Iran after Mossadegh nationalized the Anglo-Iranian Oil Company. Egyptians generally believe the Western embassies in Tehran set up the coup d'etat of General Fazlollah Zahedi in overthrowing Mossadegh and paving the way for an Anglo-Iranian settlement.

THIRD BRITON ARRESTED

Egypt put another British subject behind bars today in the wake of her official charges that two British embassy secretaries were involved in a spy ring.

The British embassy said James Zarb, a British resident of Egypt, was placed under arrest. The embassy said it does not know whether his case is connected with the espionage investigation, which the Egyptians say is implicating a growing number of foreigners.

The Egyptians already are holding Swinburn, a business manager for the British-owned Arab News Agency, and Charles Pittuck, an official of the Marconi Radio-Telegraph Co. Four Egyptians have been officially named as their accomplices, and Cairo newspapers reported today that four more Egyptians—one an Egyptian naval officer—had been seized as a result of an alleged confession by Swinburn.

ORDERED OUT

The Egyptians have given the two embassy secretaries, J. B. Flux and J. G. Gove, 72 hours to leave the country.

In London the foreign office denied Egyptian charges the two relayed orders to an alleged spy ring, but ordered Gove and Flux home under protest.

LaMarca Indicted

MINEOLA, N.Y. (AP)—Angelo John LaMarca, 31-year-old mechanic, was indicted today for kidnapping and felony murder in the abduction and death of little Peter Weinberger. (See Page 36)

2nd Body Found

WASHINGTON (AP)—The navy today announced recovery of the second body of a crew member of the patrol plane which was shot down off the China coast last Thursday.

$475,000 Bail Set

NEW YORK (AP)—Bail totalling $475,000 was set today for five hoodlums accused of plotting the acid blinding of labor columnist Victor Riesel. A hearing was set for next Wednesday.

TO SEE SICK MOTHER

12,000-Mile Trip For Stowaways

DURBAN, South Africa (AP)—Five freckled stowaways turned up here Tuesday, bent on making a 12,000-mile ocean voyage to visit their sick mother in Holland.

They are the Zandvliet children, Paulina, 6, Robert, 8, Gerard, 9, and Adriane, 12. In charge of the operation was Anna, 21.

The 20,000-ton liner Orontes was just out of Fremantle, western Australia, when they appeared. One after another five freckled faces popped out from behind the superstructures on the ship's games deck. They formed up in line, tall Anna in the lead, little Paulina bringing up the rear, and trooped off to the captain's cabin.

Anna told their story to a surprised ship's master, Commander W. B. Thompson. "These are my brothers and sisters," she said. "We emigrated with our parents to Australia just over two years ago. It was nice there and we thought we were going to start life again. Then my mother was taken ill."

PRAYER FOR TODAY

HEAVENLY FATHER, make it our daily concern to walk humbly with Thee. We know how easy it is to fall into mistakes and sins. Forgive us. Keep us near to Thee, constantly seeking Thy counsel and correction. Lead us to the open gate of grace for Thy name's sake; through Christ, Amen.

N.S. Election

HALIFAX (CP)—The Halifax Mail-Star says Premier Henry D. Hicks of Nova Scotia is expected to make an election announcement after Labor Day. There is speculation the government has set Tuesday, Oct. 30, as the date for a general election.

END TO PUBLIC SCHOOLS AUTHORIZED

Alabama Anti-Negro Voters Ready To Give Parks Away

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP)—Alabama voters have approved a constitutional amendment to keep Negroes and Whites in separate schools even at the cost of abolishing the public educational system.

The measure allows the state legislature to end public educational facilities and give public funds to private schools.

This measure, and a similar amendment covering public park facilities which also apparently passed, are designed to provide a bypass of the U.S. Supreme Court's decisions outlawing segregation in schools and recreational facilities.

Counties with heavy Negro populations went overwhelmingly for the two racial measures in a special election Tuesday. Those with few Negroes generally opposed them.

The Negro vote was light, as it always is in Alabama.

Returns from 1,875 of the state's 2,700 boxes gave the school amendment a margin of 97,720 to 63,302.

The same returns, on the parks proposal, gave 86,629 for and 63,439 against.

The school amendment would give parents a "freedom of choice" in saying whether their children will attend segregated schools. It does not provide for integrated schools.

The parks amendment would permit counties and municipalities to give away or sell any public playgrounds, swimming

Early Morning Lynching Mob Grooms PGE-Riding Varmints

WILLIAMS LAKE—Premier Bennett and his trainload of dignitaries aboard the PGE inaugural run were the "victims" today of a mock, old-west robbery and lynching.

The horseplay started two miles outside this Cariboo centre when a posse of gun-toting cowboys blocked the right-of-way.

Mr. Bennett, Railways Minister Chetwynd and PGE potentate Einar Gunderson were ordered to alight.

The trio was hustled into a horse-drawn, red-painted stagecoach by the "gunmen" and whisked into town over a bumpy trail.

More gaily-dressed cowboys and a rough-hewn gallows with three nooses awaited them.

Mr. Bennett, Mr. Chetwynd and Mr. Gunderson were mounted on the gallows and the three ropes were placed around their necks.

Stucco Chunks Foot-Square Fall Off Building; Two Hurt

VANCOUVER (CP)—Pieces of stucco as large as one foot square fell through skylights on patrons of a Vancouver restaurant Tuesday night, injuring an American tourist and causing several hundred dollars damage.

The stucco-falling came loose from the 10th floor of the Hall Building, next door to the White Lunch cafe, and crashed through the restaurant's two skylights.

J. W. Richards of San Francisco was standing at the food counter when he was hit by the falling stucco. He was treated in hospital for head lacerations. His wife, standing next to him in the cafe, was treated for shock.

There were 25 patrons and 10 staff members in the cafe at the time of the accident.

Squadron to France

OTTAWA (CP)—The RCAF's 445 Wolverine squadron at Uplands airport here will be transferred to Marville, France, in November, the air force said today.

U.K. Cracks Down On Cyprus Bishop

NICOSIA, Cyprus (AP)—Britain cracked down today on the leader of the Greek Orthodox Church in Cyprus, ordering the Bishop of Kitium restricted to his official residence at Larnaca on the east coast.

He is head of the Greek Orthodox Church on Cyprus in the absence of the exiled Archbishop Makarios.

Documents which the British said were captured by the EOKA underground contained congratulations from the bishop to Digenis, EOKA leader.

Britain has charged that the documents—including diaries kept by Digenis—contain evidence that Makarios himself directed EOKA violence. Digenis is identified by the British as George Grivas, a former colonel in the Greek army.

Sir John Harding, British military governor, issued a statement saying action was taken against the bishop "in view of the clear evidence contained in the Grivas diaries" that the bishop also aided EOKA by providing funds for purchase of arms.

EOKA vows of new violence were underscored by bomb blasts following a truce period proclaimed by EOKA.

Two bombs exploded harmlessly Tuesday night and early this morning outside the homes of a British army sergeant and a British major in Larnaca and Nicosia.

The explosions shattered the island's uneasy calm which had prevailed during a "suspension of operations" proclaimed by EOKA, the underground fighting arm of the Greek Cypriot movement demanding union with Greece.

Mainland Men Lost With Northern Tug

EDMONTON (CP)—An RCAF search plane says it has sighted an oil slick on the water near Bear's Tooth Island in Lake Athabasca, about 12 miles from shore.

The search plane said today the slick is on the water near one of three barges, adrift in the lake 450 miles northeast of Edmonton since the tug Clearwater disappeared late Monday with eight men aboard.

The RCAF report said the "bridled tow line" indicated the boat is in the same location. RCAF sources were unable to elaborate on the report but indications were the tug may have sunk, still attached by a tow-line to the single barge.

A search vessel Tuesday identified pieces of wreckage, found along Grey Willow Point on Lake Athabasca, as from the missing Northern Transportation Co. tug, a crown-owned company.

Names of the missing men are: Captain, K. R. Holden, Vancouver; mate, Ruben Marsh, 52, Selkirk, Man.; engineer, H. Lee, Vancouver; second engineer, K. Horbol, Vancouver; deckhands: Byron Hjorleifsson, 37, Riverton, Man.; B. Mosur, Long Branch, Ont.; J. Anderson, Waterways, Alta.; cook, W. Chapman, Edmonton.

'Adequate' PGE Statement Demanded By Tory Leader

ABBOTSFORD, B.C. (CP)—B.C. Progressive Conservative Leader, Deane Finlayson said Tuesday night the tax and debt picture of B.C. has been misrepresented.

Mr. Finlayson, speaking to CHITWACK Conservatives here, said this misrepresentation is one thing the public will discover when Conservatives "strip off the camouflage concealing the true record of the present provincial government."

Mr. Finlayson said B.C. finances when disclosed, will "give cause for alarm."

He also challenged Premier Bennett to "produce an adequate and proper statement of the operation of the Pacific Great Eastern Railway."

The "true record" of the Social Credit government would show, said Mr. Finlayson, that a widespread "patronage" exists in the construction of highways.

MP's Wife Named

VANCOUVER (CP)—The CCF Tuesday nominated Mrs. Grace MacInnis, Norman Hill and William Pierce as candidates for Vancouver—Point Grey.

Mrs. MacInnis is the wife of CCF MP Angus MacInnis, and the daughter of the late J. S. Woodsworth, founder of the CCF party.

She was an MLA for Vancouver-Burrard from 1941 to 1945.

Merchant to Run

FORT ST. JOHN (CP)—Ralph Pomeroy, a Fort St. John department store owner, Tuesday night was nominated Liberal candidate for North Peace River riding.

Cariboo CCF

QUESNEL, B.C. (CP)—James Lehman, an employee of Western Plywood Ltd., here was chosen unanimously as CCF candidate for Cariboo riding.

Mr. Lehman was former business agent for International Woodworkers of America in this area.

Veteran Candidate

PRINCE GEORGE (CP)—The Young Progressive Conservatives of British Columbia

nominated James A. Macaulay, 28, Korean War veteran and Vancouver law student, who is unknown here, as a candidate for the Fort George seat.

Bridge Pledged

KAMLOOPS, B.C. (CP)—T. P. Wilson, Liberal candidate in Kamloops riding, says a Liberal government would take immediate action on a suitable bridge to join Kamloops to North Kamloops, Westside, Brocklehurst and surrounding areas.

Mr. Wilson made the statement at a campaign organizational meeting Monday.

'Dangerous Men'

PORT ALBERNI (CP)—Tom Barnett, CCF member of Parliament for Comox-Alberni, said Tuesday he regards Premier Duplessis of Quebec and Premier Bennett of British Columbia as the two most dangerous men in the country's politics.

He said that to him, they symbolize an extreme reactionary viewpoint. "With development of their approach to politics, sinister and unscrupulous forces could take over in Canada."

Labor for CCF

VANCOUVER (CP)—The executive of the B.C. Federation of Labor recommended yesterday that its 50,000 members work with local CCF organizations for the election of Socialist candidates in the election.

The federation supported the pro-CCF policy of the old Canadian Congress of Labor and the executive recommended that the policy be continued until November when it will merge with the B.C. Trades Union Congress.

Knocks on Doors

Saanich CCF candidate Frank Snowsall today is on a door-to-door campaign in Brentwood and Central Saanich.

He plans three house meetings, and an address to Indians in the area tonight.

Liberals to Meet

A meeting of all Liberal candidates nominated to contest the election will be held in Vancouver Saturday.

"The meeting will go into campaign policy and enable candidates to meet each other," a party official said here today.

Liberal leader Arthur

Laing has stated the party plans to name 48 candidates by Saturday and the remaining four as soon as possible.

Sunday Sport

The secretary of the B.C. Alberta Lord's Day Alliance told a service club luncheon meeting at Penticton Tuesday that all political leaders in the B.C. legislature are opposed to commercialized Sunday sports.

Rev. H. T. Allan said he had personally interviewed the leaders whom he did not identify.

Leaders to Speak

VANCOUVER (CP)—Leaders of three provincial political parties have accepted invitations to speak at Labor's Sept. 12 election forum. Arthur Laing, Liberal leader, Robert Strachan, CCF, and Nigel Morgan, Labor Pro-

MACHINE GUN THROWS TON A MINUTE

ABERDEEN, Md. (UP)—The U.S. armed forces has unveiled a fast-firing, six-barreled machine gun that can pour out more than a ton of lead a minute.

It's called the Vulcan after the Roman god of fire.

The 300-pound weapon is chiefly designed for use on supersonic airplanes. The present-day machine gun has too slow a rate of fire for effective use in the swift-moving dog fights of the supersonic age.

The gun, developed by General Electric Co. under the supervision of the army ordnance corps and the air force, fires so fast that it sets up a steady roar instead of the staccato bark of a conventional machine gun.

The gun fires 20 mm ammunition. Each projectile weighs about one-third of a pound and carries an explosive warhead.

Curtis Named Chairman Of Amalgamation Study

First meeting of Greater Victoria municipal representatives studying amalgamation Tuesday named city alderman Austin I. Curtis as chairman.

He was authorized to prepare a digest of the recently prepared Citizens' Research Institute of Canada brief which was compiled at a cost of $5,000 for the Junior and Senior Chambers of Commerce. The digest will be the basis of study at next meeting of the group.

The brief recommends amalgamation of Greater Victoria. But members of the committee indicated they would attempt to establish facts for and against amalgamation "... and see if we can't reach common ground on a large number of them."

OPPOSED

Two members, Saanich councillor Leslie H. Passmore and Esquimalt councillor George Argyle, expressed themselves as personally opposed to amalgamation. Oak Bay representative, Coun. C. H. G. Mann, said Oak Bay was going ahead with plans for a new municipal hall, which also indicated continued opposition to union government.

The Saanich man-on-the-street isn't interested in amalgamation of Greater Victoria, Councillor Passmore said.

He said when a citizen "buttonholes" a councillor, it is to ask for a new street light or with regard to some local problem.

PICTURE NOT TRUE

"The brief paints a picture the institute feels will please the people who hired them," Councillor Passmore said.

"It is painted to promote amalgamation and is not an unbiased report — not a true picture."

Of the premise that pooling of municipal departments would create an economy he said, "our equipment doesn't lie idle. I don't think it is worth investigating."

At the same time he pointed out his views were his own. He told the committee that when other Saanich delegates, Coun. Ronald Grant is heard, he will undoubtedly support the issue, area be rectified by the proper authorities.

was J. Everett Brown, deputy minister of municipal affairs. He told the committee the government would be willing to assist in fact finding, but final decision would be up to the municipalities.

HIT-RUN VICTIM

PRINCE RUPERT — A Coroner's jury Monday found that a 58-year-old CNR employee died in hospital here Aug. 24 as a result of injuries he received when struck by a car driven by a person unknown, Aug. 19.

The verdict was returned in the death of Stephan Dziapka, victim of a hit-and-run driver. The jury added a rider that the hazardous conditions of the area be rectified by the proper authorities.

City To Report On 5-Year Growth

Surprising growth of Lower Vancouver Island's biggest self-contained business, the Corporation of the City of Victoria, has been outlined in a five-year comparison in the city's annual report which will be released at City Hall next week.

Compiled by city manager C. C. Wyatt, the illustrated annual report reaches back to 1951 to demonstrate Victoria's go-ahead.

Some of the highlights of the report include a comparison of census figures—in 1951 it was listed as 51,331; in 1955 at 55,000.

Per capita net debt of the city has decreased from $193.92 in 1951 to $170.15 by the end of 1955.

Gross debt service in 1951 was $12,767,000 and had been reduced to $11,926,698 by the end of the five-year period, despite a large increase in borrowing in 1952 for school and street construction.

In 1951 the city's taxable assessment was $61,987,378 and in 1955 it was $92,986,629. Taxes in the same period increased from $2,636,003 to $3,175,772.

Since 1951 there has been constructed in the city 18.1 miles of new concrete sidewalks, 22.9 miles of new curbs and gutters, 9.2 miles of new asphaltic pavement, 5.8 miles of gravel road and 33.9 miles of streets oiled or flush-coated.

The complete report will comprise a 60-page brochure and will cover every phase of city business, many of the departmental reports being simplified with graphs and diagrams.

Immediate Reforestation CCF Policy, Says Snowsall

The Sturdy-Sommers case must not be allowed to be a "smoke-screen to hide the appalling mismanagement of our forests" by the Social Credit government, Saanich CCF candidate Frank Snowsall warned Tuesday night.

A CCF government would see that each acre of timber logged in the summer is replanted in the following fall or spring, he told a house meeting at 729 Newbury.

In the Alberni area only three acres are being replanted for every nine acres cut and the average in other districts is worse, Mr. Snowsall charged.

The CCF candidate said that instead of a $28 rebate to property owners, the government should turn any surplus revenue over to the municipalities.

"Saanich, like most rapidly expanding municipalities, needs sewers, sidewalks, street lights, improved roads, more schools, parks and water mains."

Mr. Snowsall will speak at a public meeting Thursday night at 8 o'clock in the Marigold Hall where slides of the MacMillan and Bloedel enterprises in the Alberni area will be shown.

'Operation Appendix' Successfully Concluded

"Operation appendix," a joint exercise of the RCN and USN, was brought to a successful conclusion Tuesday in the sick bay of the navy transport, USS General Hugh J. Gaffey.

There OS Neil D. R. Grill, of HMCS New Glasgow, was relieved of a troublesome appendix. His condition is "completely satisfactory," according to radioed reports.

The operation took place about 1,600 miles west of the B.C. coast, after the sailor, a Regina man, was transferred from the New Glasgow, a frigate, to the 10,000-ton transport where better medical facilities are available.

The General Gaffey is bound for San Francisco, where Grill

The Right To Know

THE ATTEMPT TO MUZZLE the Bennett Government's critics and the newspapers of British Columbia has failed. In the sort of judgment to be expected from an eminent jurist, Mr. Justice J. O. Wilson of the Supreme Court has refused to punish Mr. Deane Finlayson for reading aloud, and the two Vancouver newspapers for printing, a court document which obviously is public property.

This represents a notable victory for free speech in this province and a stinging rebuke to Mr. Robert Sommers.

The Times reported Mr. Finlayson's speech, well aware that Mr. Sommers intended to bring these matters before the courts. We published it because we believed that the public was entitled to hear its own vital business; because we could not conceive that publication would affect Mr. Sommers' libel suit in any way; because the failure to publish it, in our view, would be contempt of court but contempt of the electorate. All these assumptions are confirmed in Mr. Justice Wilson's candid judgment.

It should be clearly understood what Mr. Finlayson read to a political meeting and what three newspapers, including the Times, decided to report. He was not reading some political roorback, reciting any rumor or commenting on the guilt or innocence of Mr. Sommers. He was reading a document filed in the courts long ago—Mr. Sturdy's statement of defence in the suit launched by Mr. Sommers. That and nothing more.

To say that such a document cannot be published is to say, first, that the business of the courts can be kept secret to convenience one litigant and, second, that the public has no right to know the nature of the charges against a former cabinet minister before the election. That was the question referred to Mr. Justice Wilson—the only question—and he has settled it.

It should be understood, also, that no newspaper, so far as we are aware, certainly not The Times, has ever printed a word of comment on the guilt or innocence of Mr. Sommers. That would be contempt of court and a gross breach of the responsibilities that go with the freedom of the press. We have never sought by the slightest inference to prejudice Mr. Sommers' case. We have judged only the Government's case in calling an election before the Sommers' case reaches the Courts for trial, and that is an entirely different matter.

The moral case against the Government, we believe, is unanswerable.

The Guns Are Silenced

THE OLD FIFTH REGIMENT, Canadian Garrison Artillery, which more recently has been known as the Fifth West Coast Harbor Defence battery, has become a casualty of the changing times. After long and honorable service in peace and war it faces oblivion. Ottawa has ordered that the units here and at Prince Rupert be disbanded. Their heavy coastal guns are obsolete.

There will be regret that the old unit must fade into history. Its name has been associated with Victoria for many years. At least two generations of Victoria children have shivered when they heard the big guns firing at night, and have been quietened by the explanation that "it's just the Fifth practising."

A new age and new weapons have crowded out the old. Rockets, guided missiles and other developments—even atomic artillery—are taking the place of the old land emplacements. They are mounted on aircraft and ships, and add manoeuvrability to the factors of defence. A 16-inch gun is poor retaliation against a bomber flying at the speed of sound, no matter how mighty its kick may be.

As the tank and similar weapons replaced the horse, so are the new weapons of air and sea replacing the conventional defences of earlier years. But the "Fifth" will long be remembered; its record was worthy and bright. There will be wide approval if some new arrangement can be made to preserve its name and entity.

Shocking Toll

BRITISH COLUMBIANS HAVE just received figures showing a shocking increase in the number of car accidents causing death.

During the first seven months of this year 147 B.C. people were killed—47 in July alone—compared to 90 for the equivalent 1935 period. The number injured rose to 4,643, an increase of 16 per cent over the corresponding months last year.

Because the total number of all accidents, serious and minor, rose only 3 per cent, a logical conclusion has been drawn that speed was the main cause of death and injury.

This is the alarming situation confronting a public constantly urged to drive with caution. Obviously the educational program is not hitting home to the degree it should.

If there is any remedy—and one certainly is needed as more highly powered cars come onto highways which encourage higher speed—it may lie in harsher lessons for speeders not yet involved in crashes. At present the most effective deterrent seems to be suspension of driving privileges. If that is needed, then let it come.

Of course it is inconvenient for a car owner to be deprived of his or her right to drive. But inconvenience deserves little consideration at a time when so many people are being killed on the highway.

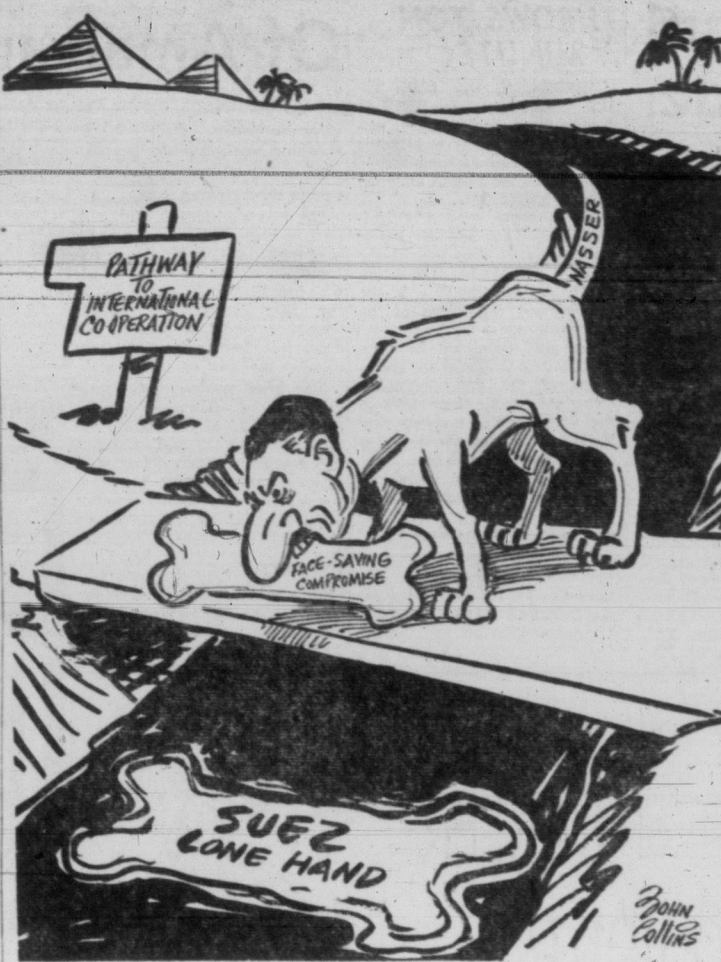

A Worthy Effort

VICTORIA GYRO CLUB IS TO be congratulated on its community spirit in constructing a park and pavilion for the use of bathers at Cadboro Bay. As well as providing for an increasing need, the new facilities will add to the attractiveness of the popular picnic beach. What was once a marsh is now being transformed into playgrounds and gardens—an improvement which will win the approval of all who use the beach.

The job has entailed a large amount of work and effort on the part of Gyro members. It was undertaken in the spirit of public service for which the Gyros are well known, and should stand as a lasting memorial to their principles as well as a very worthwhile addition to Greater Victoria's beach amenities.

The Dog and the Bone

SPEAK, HANDS, FOR ME

By B. A. TOBIN

Write Me, Don't Wrong Me

LOT fricas is boto gag freer a clot. At gig? So many of the notes and letters I receive these days seem to read something like that. Even worse are the missives in a fine rolling freehand that read: El leiloll lellelel elloleloll. No Egyptologist sweating over the inscriptions on a Pharaoh's tomb has a tougher job than I have in trying to make out the correspondence I often get. Illegible, unreadable, inscrutable—the letters take more than patience to decipher. Perhaps a brass rod or a willow twig would divide some meaning in them. Only one thing prevents me from calling down destruction upon the perpetrators of such handwriting. My own is worse.

Tobin

Lost Art

Penmanship can take its place among the lost arts, like making Damascus steel or carving ivory palaces. It seems only a few years ago that writing by hand was a fairly common accomplishment. Children boasted that they could write like adults. Nowadays there are only a few adults left who are able to boast that they can write like children.

I can remember my first contact at school with what was called muscular movement writing. I remember it so well because it was the year my handwriting ceased to exist as a readable form of communication.

Although I persevered for several years swinging with my elbow and lunging with my shoulder my writing was never the same. In fact, it was never writing.

Later on, at college, scribbling notes at lectures finished the job. I learned to write as fast as anyone could talk. But afterwards a page took hours to read. The result, of course, was that it didn't get read—a handy solution all round.

For Future Study

But it's all there still, preserved in note books for future generations of archaeologists to stumble on. The Rosetta stone has nothing on me.

The typewriter, fortunately, saved me from a life cut off from human communication. Without it I could not send messages to friends. Nor could I receive them, for I find that almost every one I know is in the same illiterate state. Except for signing our unreadable names, we have lost the age-old gift of penmanship.

One of the odd things about such an affliction is that often the victim does not realize he cannot write. Thus he continues to send out missive after missive, all of them undecipherable.

The story goes that two old friends, becoming separated by many miles, decided to keep up a correspondence. A sent the first letter to B. B. couldn't read a word of it, but not wishing to hurt his friend's feelings, he sent back an answer which he made sure was also unreadable. A, not being able to make head or tail of this, made HIS reply even worse.

The messages flowed back and forth for years, none of them readable, none of them read, but serving their purpose just as well. A knew B was still alive and on friendly terms, and B was likewise informed about A.

Dystrophy Too?

There are other forms of unreadability, of course, apart from actual handwriting. Many a letter is perfectly formed as to words and sentences, but it means nothing. It's muscular movement, all right, but the muscles are all in the head.

Even when communications make sense, they're still not over the hurdle. If they're to be any good they must be right as well as written.

In the thrilling days when Roosevelt and Churchill were drawing up the Atlantic Charter on a battleship somewhere out at sea, one of the top-notch Washington reporters got a big scoop by writing a news story about what the President was going to do.

On his return to Washington Mr. Roosevelt was asked to comment on the story. "It was well thought out and excellently written," he said, "but not true."

Even when a word is printed rather than written it's sometimes hard to believe.

Anagrams

Take that news editor who was called on the phone one day by an excited scientist who shouted, "Say, here's a big story for you. There's been a terrible earthquake in Psczyzna, Poland. There must be hundreds killed."

"Uh huh," murmured the editor. "What was the name of the town before the earthquake?"

It may be significant that the atomic age should be coming in as the age of handwriting goes out. For it's obvious that while we are neglecting handwriting we're also sadly neglecting another kind.

Most writing these days can be dismissed anyway—it's probably not too important. But maybe we should think again before we continue to ignore the other kind—the kind we should make an effort to understand in this nuclear era even if it's unwelcome—the writing on the wall.

As Our Readers See It

Ethical Training

The letter signed "Taxpayer and Voter" in your issue Aug. 24 headed "Religious Teaching," will express the view of many readers.

But no school youngster receives an adequate well-rounded education unless it includes teachings to—

- (1) Distinguish between good and evil.
- (2) Distinguish between right and wrong.
- (3) Respect parental authority.

All important world religions teach these things and tend to install in the conscience a personal individual police officer.

"Taxpayer and Voter" will probably agree that possibly these teachings could pay good dividends by reducing cost of all law-enforcement agencies—local and province wide.

If the term "religious" stirs up historical bitterness and creates animosities perhaps some other title could be substituted such as "Good Neighbor Training," or "Friendship Laws," etc.

Probably a plan of this nature has been successfully evolved and operated in other parts of the world and could be given a trial in British Columbia on a democratic "local option" basis.

Certainly the added expense to the taxpayer would be comparatively negligible.

Stified

Lord Acton stated "Absolute power corrupts absolutely."

In B.C. we seem to be well on the way unless a halt is called.

Premier Bennett has taken advantage of his position as premier, has defied our democratic principles and has refused to inform the people. He has called an unnecessary snap election to suit his own purposes and has denied many their right to vote. He has not shown a proper respect of Her Majesty's Loyal Opposition either inside or outside of the House or respect for the people of B.C.

From all accounts not one of the Sacred supporters has had the courage to publicly challenge the Bennett-Bonner stilling of the Sommers-Sturdy affair even though the integrity of the government is at stake. Some Sacreds have verbally but not publicly tried to find excuses.

Actions prove what Leslie Roberts wrote in Canadian Liberty that "The Sacred government of B.C. would develop into a dictatorship."

Wake up people of B.C. before it is too late. You have lost already some of your parliamentary and democratic rights.

FRANK H. PARTRIDGE.

The Religious Rainbow

We are prone to imagine that religion consists in memorizing certain passages in a book and then making them our precepts of what is right. We do not realize that religion is not a thing of words but of feeling—a feeling for one another.

It was not a book that prompted Jesus to say, "Suffer the little children to come unto Me for of such is the kingdom of heaven." It was a feeling for us, for we are all children of the universe. Jesus might have added, "By Me, I mean the Truth!"

Too often is religion boiled down to a set of rules, unbending, unyielding and synthetic. And something that relates to a particular church or creed. A belief of a group, rather than the promptings of a universal feeling for one another.

There is only one religion for the schools and that is a religion which will unite us all on the common grounds of humanity.

If we are to have religion in the schools, can it not be simply that we love one another?

Question, Mr. Bennett!

Premier Bennett states in his campaign speech, with regard to hospital insurance that "It's benefits are available now to all people in British Columbia—not just those who could afford to pay the premiums."

This is an utter falsehood. Actually its benefits are available on two scores only.

1. If your doctor is able to secure a bed.

2. If you have lived in British Columbia for at least a year. Otherwise you must pay a minimum of $16.50 per day—even for an infant—or as high as $22 for private room.

Re the Pacific Great Eastern. Mr. Bennett states, "It is already paying dollar profits on its operation," yet three paragraphs above it states, "The southern extension has been completed and this month your trains will be rolling over it."

In view of the fact that hundreds of thousands of dollars—probably well over a million—have recently been spent on rebuilding the roadbed on the north shore, purchasing property, diesels and freight cars, how does Mr. Bennett figure "paying profits" since the word "profit" is defined as "pecuniary gain."

One hundred and thirty-five million dollars has already been sunk in the PGE by previous governments, so it is unlikely it will ever "pay profits," either now or at any future date.

Mr. Bennett speaks continually of highways and bridges. The Hope-Princeton and Fraser Canyon highways, which are the finest in the province, were built during the coalition administration. In view of the fact that four of the leading provincial engineers resigned a few weeks ago, any thinking person knows that with the acute shortage of qualified engineers, their replacement, at government pay, is impossible.

Painting

The sea air deteriorates paint work very quickly. A great reduction in the cost of painting a house could be saved by adding a coat of varnish over the finished paintwork.

The varnish gives a hard film over the paintwork, then the outside of the house can be washed down and cleaned anytime. This practice of varnishing over paintwork is used in England and elsewhere with good results.

I guarantee that paintwork near the sea will last three times as long with a coat of varnish over. It is very expensive to use good paint for the first coat over woodwork, as the paint is practically absorbed into the woodwork and very little paint to show for it.

A prime coat should be used first on woodwork. It is cheaper than good quality paint.

For letters on metal signs the metal should first receive a coat of red-lead paint (as ships) then the lettering and paintwork over the red lead coat.

Issues Are Made, Not Born

BY JOSEPH and STEWART ALSOP, From San Francisco

THERE was one virtue, at any rate, in having the Republican Convention begin just as the Democratic Convention ended. It made the contrast between the two parties singularly vivid and immediate. You could see the strengths and weaknesses of each with stereoscopic clarity. For example, one of the great strengths of the Democrats is their rich riot of competing personalities. Chicago crawled with Democrats of note and stature. There were two frank rank candidates, Adlai Stevenson and Averell Harriman. There was another, Lyndon Johnson of Texas, who is highly likely to be a front rank candidate four years from now.

The strength of the second level was displayed in the exciting Vice-Presidential race. And among the group of political organizers there were plenty of big men, including the important new face of Adlai Stevenson's able manager, James A. Finnegan.

In contrast, the most obvious weakness of the Republicans is the fact that they have now become a one-man party. Dwight D. Eisenhower by no means typifies the Republican viewpoint as Robert A. Taft used to do.

A great many of the delegates who screamed themselves hoarse for him in the Cow Palace very sharply disagree with many of his policies. If he ever makes a really bold attempt to implement the foreign affairs sections of his acceptance speech, for instance, the President will surely be opposed by most of the Republican Senators and Congressmen who are now so desperately anxious to ride back into office on his coat-tails.

One-Man Party

But the Republicans are a one-man party just the same, because Dwight D. Eisenhower is the only Republican candidate with a tinker's chance of winning a national election.

After four years in control of the White House, in fact, the Republican party has become poorer, not richer, in notable personalities of national stature. If Eisenhower wins again, the greatest Republican problem will be to develop men who can carry on where he leaves off. And it will not be an easy problem.

But it is the Democrats who are poor, and the Republicans who are rich in the other significant area of politics, the area of issues.

This happy situation the Republicans owe to the singular political astuteness of Dwight D. Eisenhower. If the party as represented in Congress had been left to itself, it would quite certainly have spent its time generously manufacturing issues for the enemy, in the manner of the 80th Congress. But by wise and moderate action in many different fields, from social welfare to the administration of the labor laws, Dwight Eisenhower quietly captured the Democrats' issues.

Except for the health issue above all, plus the regionally important farm and public power issues, the Democrats now have no straw left to make electoral bricks with.

And while one must always recognize politician Eisenhower's primary responsibility for this Democratic misfortune, it is also necessary to note that the Democrats have themselves to blame as well.

Many people have pointed out that their long experience of opposition left the Republicans, particularly the Congressional Republicans, sadly unprepared to act as a party in power but it is also true that this long experience of power and responsibility left the Democrats sadly unprepared to act as an opposition.

Specifically, they forgot that political issues do not lead an independent, God-given existence of their own. They did not realize, any longer, that issues have to be made, and made in particular by the opposition.

Raw Material

And they neglected to make several of the most important issues, for which there was ample raw material lying about, because the task of making issues is almost always unpleasant and controversial at the outset.

The classic example in our own time was Winston Churchill's handling of the issues presented by the rising menace of Nazi power. Churchill had to undergo years of ostracism and abuse because he insisted on the vital importance of that issue. But in the end, because he stood the racket when the going was rough, he was the sole, inevitable Prime Minister in England's darkest hour.

The Democrats did not have to be Churchill to make very great and stirring issues in the areas of defence and foreign policy. For instance, they only had to have some knowledge of the problem, to show some guts in discussing them and to hammer away until the country turned its attention to the problems. But they did not do any of this because it would have been initially uncomfortable.

And so today, while Adlai Stevenson frankly regards the defence and foreign issues as far and away the most important of all, he has said with rueful frankness that he does not think "there is much mileage in them." And Stevenson is right, no doubt, because issues cannot be made at the last minute either.

'The Rain Set In'

LONDON—They call this the Year of the Rains. Sitting here on the coldest August day of this century and watching the rain coming down, I am reminded of a poem I knew as a youngster. It went along these lines:

Reyburn

It rained and rained and rained and rained, And the picnic party all complained; Then after a drought of half an hour We had a most refreshing shower; Which wetted the party to the skin— And after that the rain set in.

That's only the fragment of it that I can recall (perhaps any reader who knows the full thing will send it to me) but it certainly hits the mood of these parts at the present time. With the sudden ground a quagmire if you move around on it, we have the ironic headline which tells us that the farmers are praying for sun.

But the interesting thing is that London doesn't really get much rain—when you compare it to other places. I spent some of my youth in Auckland, New Zealand, which city gets almost double London's rainfall—an average of 48 inches compared to the 25 inches of London.

But the point is that it seems like a lot more rain here in London. It is spread out all over the year and you appear to get a bit of it every day or so. In Auckland and other such sub-tropical areas, when it rains it doesn't mess about with it. It gets on with the job and really rains. Out there, where corrugated iron roofs are the common thing for houses, I remember that conversation had to be held up when a downpour came—one could hear nothing for the din of the rain cascading on the roof. The main street of Auckland (a city about the size of Vancouver) is Queen street and it was formerly a riverbed.

When a good healthy shower came down the drains couldn't cope with the water and it used to revert to being a river, errand boys taking off their shoes and shirts and having a swim in the lakes that formed on the lower part of the street. But having rained in deluge style for an hour or so, it all stopped and there were dependable blue skies and sun for the next few days. There was none of the monotony of grey skies and dollops of rain every now and then, as is all too frequent in these parts.

There is a feeling of depression that goes with it and I have heard it put forward that London's long drawn out raininess is a reason why young hopefuls from the Dominions who come to London have so much success in the creative arts.

The blue skies and beaches of New Zealand and Australia and Canada's summer lakes and sunlit snow are a distraction to an aspiring writer or painter or musician. Why slave away indoors when you could be out enjoying yourself? Here you take one look outside and bury your head in the typewriter.

YOUR HEALTH

By DR. WALTER C. ALVAREZ

They Need To Be Amused

Dr. Alvarez is Emeritus Consultant in Medicine, Mayo Clinic and Emeritus Professor of Medicine, Mayo Foundation.

In a fine book on "The Dynamics of Aging," by Ethel Sabin Smith (Norton), I find a remarkable thought. The author says an elderly or a sick person is often like the child who keeps saying, "Play With Me." "Read to me." "Stay With Me." I can still remember as a child on our lonely farm, going to my mother and saying, "What can I do now?" An older person is the more likely to make such demands if, like a child, he feels inadequate "to meet each day on the basis of his own strength"—if he has few interests and no inner resources.

Dr. Alvarez

I know many husbands who, after supper expect the wife to entertain them in some way—to read to them, or to play cards. It does not seem to occur to them that they might find their own book to read; or to play solitaire, or to find some hobby or task around the house that would interest them. Similarly, there are many wives who seem to have the idea that when the husband married them, the marriage service read "to love, honor, and amuse."

Blessed is the man or woman who can find his or her own interests, forms of amusement, and life to lead. All of us would be wise in our youth and middle years to learn to amuse ourselves, and to keep happy within ourselves, because so often in old age there is no one around who wants to take over the job of talking to us, playing with us and keeping us occupied.

CONTINUING EDUCATION

I remember so well the night I graduated from high school; the address was given by that wonderful man, David Starr Jordan of Stanford. He said that we students had better continue to educate ourselves so as to become interesting people. If, for lack of continuing our education and constantly getting new thoughts, we were to become bored, it would be rough on those about us, but roughest on us, because we would have to be living with ourselves most of the time.

Many persons tell me how disturbed and upset they get because they keep constantly going to physicians to have their blood pressure measured. When the pressure is up higher than they expected it to be they get distressed; and when it is lower than they expect it to be they get frightened. Every physician knows well this type of person, and often wishes that he or she would go to some clinic far away.

Because of this sort of thing, most physicians advise their patients to avoid having their blood pressure measured. They know that knowledge of the pressure-reading rarely does any good, and commonly it causes great anxiety and mental distress. In the cases of many persons the pressure goes up and down from day to day and even during a single day. I'll never forget the woman who came into my office with a systolic blood pressure of 220 mm. and symptoms that suggested a severe type of hypertension. I sent her out to the hospital and telephoned my assistant to take good care of her. Next morning, when I made rounds, he said there must have been some mistake because the woman who came in had a blood pressure of only 120 mm. I went to see if the woman was the right one; and there she was, and she did have a blood pressure of 120. But when I had her get out of bed and walk around the hospital, within an hour it was up over 200 again. She was one of those many persons who have a normal pressure at night and a high pressure during the day.

I remember another woman who used to come in with a systolic blood pressure usually about 170 mm. Occasionally it was 240 mm. When I asked her what she had been doing on the days when the pressure was high, she said her good-for-nothing son had come with a lawyer to abuse her and try to force her to consent to the breaking of his father's will, which had left money to him only in trust.

Physicians have had so much trouble with their patients getting all upset when told that their pressure is high that many refuse to tell what the reading is. They beg their patients not to have their pressure taken often. Even I, who am not a worrier about my health, get my pressure measured only once a year.

A FORM OF INSOMNIA

As I said a while ago in a column on insomnia, there are two main types of this trouble: one in which the person cannot get to sleep, and the other in which he or she gets to sleep all right, but then wakes perhaps at 5 a.m. and cannot get to sleep again. Such a person then needs a calming drug which works quickly and has a short action. He cannot take an ordinary sleeping tablet because this would make him sleepy until noon the next day.

Judge Gives His Reasons For 'No Contempt' Ruling

VANCOUVER (CP)—Following is a partial transcript of the judgment delivered in British Columbia Supreme Court Tuesday by Mr. Justice J. O. Wilson dismissing applications for contempt citations against B.C. Progressive Conservative leader, Deane Finlayson, the Vancouver Herald and the Vancouver Sun.

There is no evidence here to suggest that any of the respondents intended to taint the source of justice or to prejudice a fair trial. Therefore, following the pronouncement of Lord Chief Justice Hewart, supra, I may look at the circumstances, including the conduct of the parties.

The first relevant circumstance is this: Every allegation in the plea of justification read by Mr. Finlayson and printed by the two newspapers had already been brought to public notice by publication in the press on March 2 and June 3, 1956. The prospective jurors who may try the case of Sommers vs. Sturdy were not told by Mr. Finlayson anything new, anything that had not already been lawfully published in reports of proceedings in court and in the Legislature. When I say "lawfully published" I have in mind Os-

Cites British Precedents

The conduct of the parties is relevant (vide Lord Chief Justice Hewart, supra). In Rex v. Blumenfeld The Daily Express was sued for libel by one Tupper. After the writ was issued The Express published further derogatory statements about Tupper and Mr. Tupper made a speech referring to the issuing of the writ, the excellence of his own character and the incorrectness of The Express report which was the subject of the action. Phillimore J. said this:

"Of course, there were limits to the right of free speech, and no doubt, articles or statements made near the time of the trial, especially on the eve of the trial or made at a place near in point of locality, were calculated to create an atmosphere unfavorable to one of the parties by deterring witnesses from coming forward and speaking their minds freely or by warping the minds of the jurymen, and these should be deemed an interference with the course of justice, and should be restrained by the wholesome exercise of the jurisdiction of the court. But it was quite another thing to say that a man could procure himself protection for life from the exposure of his character by the issue of a writ."

Ill Becomes Him to Complain

Lush J. said this: "In his opinion, in a case where the plaintiff sought to stop the defendant's mouth while continuing to comment on the case himself, the court ought not to interfere." I also refer to the Bothwell Election Case (4 O.R. 224), where Wilson, C.J. said this:

"The court will not act at the instance of one who has published anything of the like nature as that he complains of, or who has done or participated in anything of the like kind which shows he is publicly maintaining his own cause, or the cause of any one identified with him, in opposition to the publications or conduct of the party he complains of."

The plaintiff here has not only with direct reference to the case of Sommers vs. Sturdy, denied the charges made against him, he has alleged that those charges are part of a plot or conspiracy to which, of course, he must mean that the defendant is a party. He has further, still within the armour of legislative immunity, said that the chief witness to be called against him is a criminal, an extortionist. He has voiced a thinly veiled threat to have that witness arrested if he returns to British Columbia. He has wielded both the whitewash brush and the tar brush and it becomes him to complain of the bare recital by the respondents here of a set of charges already known to the public.

The last thing I want to do is to appear to condone trial by press rather than by the courts. A litigant or an accused person is entitled to present his case to a tribunal which has not been exposed to a barrage of ex parte statements relating to the subject matter of the cause before it. But it is not correct to say that every reference to a pending cause is objectionable, and a reference which may appear prima facie to be objectionable may be justified by special circumstances. The plaintiff stands as a candidate for the Legislature. He does so with the full knowledge that his character must be publicly discussed and the knowledge that his libel action is pending. He has put himself in the public eye and while this will not justify any act which can be construed as contempt of court, it makes inevitable some exploration of his record as a member and as a minister.

"Democracy cannot be maintained without its foundation, free public opinion and free discussion throughout the nation of all matters affecting the state within the limits set by the criminal code and the common law."

Mr. Bull, in his argument, said that if it were permitted that the accusations against his client be printed, his client must be driven to refute them, thus creating a public debate on a matter that is sub-judice. This argument impressed me, but I think the fact that the public debate was initiated not by the defendant or by the persons now cited by the plaintiff, but by the plaintiff himself, is a clear answer to it.

But here a word of warning. Senator Farris suggested that the plaintiff's actions had put the whole issue of the allegations against the plaintiff into the public domain, so that henceforth these charges might be freely or publicly discussed. This may, or may not, be so ruling. I am only concerned with the facts in this case. I only say that what has been done here is not contempt of court under the circumstances that here exist. I do not say that other and different actions, under these or other circumstances, may not constitute contempt. I am not pronouncing a general absolution in respect of any future references to the matters sub-judice in Sommers vs. Sturdy. The plaintiff will pay to all persons named in these proceedings their costs.

When cost must be considered . . . understanding service with no sacrifice of highest standards.

Immigrant's Death 'Murder'; Wallet Mailed to Police

VANCOUVER — A coroner's jury said today that Horst Fenske, a German immigrant, was "murdered by persons unknown" nine days ago.

He was found on the street Aug. 19 and died in hospital without regaining consciousness. Police started working on the murder theory after they received his rifled wallet through the post office from an anonymous sender.

7-YEAR-OLD DROWNED
NELSON — Seven-year-old William Eli Robinson died in a swimming pool mishap at the Emerald mine community near here Monday.

An inquest will be held to determine whether he was drowned or choked on food.

Two lifeguards rescued the child in less than a minute and resuscitation efforts were carried on for five hours.

BODY RECOVERED
PRINCE RUPERT — RCMP said here Tuesday that 13-year-old Edward Hall was drowned at Bella Bella over the weekend.

His body has been recovered and an inquest under coroner W. C. Proby will be held.

BOER WAR VETERAN DIES
VANCOUVER — Robert Mackie, last survivor of 16 Vancouverites who fought in the Boer War, died Tuesday at the age of 84.

Mr. Mackie and the Vancouver group went to South Africa in 1899. He was present at Cronje when the Boers surrendered.

Mr. Mackie is survived by his widow and two sons, James and Angus, both of Vancouver.

91 YEARS YOUNG

PENTICTON — Frederick Anderson of Penticton celebrated his 94th birthday Monday by playing his favorite game, billiards, in his completely equipped basement billiard room.

Billiards, said Mr. Anderson, caused him to buy his present home and equip it so he could play with his friends.

His other hobbies are reading, shooting and cribbage.

His formula for a long life: "I didn't smoke till I was 40, never took more than one drink at a time, never stole anything I couldn't lift, and never told a lie."

HOSPITAL IN RED

PRINCE GEORGE — The Prince George and district hospital has an accumulated deficit of more than $20,000 for 1956.

Reports that the hospital has been losing money daily and is carrying an $8,000 deficit from last year were confirmed by hospital administrator Bruce Thomson. He said the board of management is appealing to the BGHS for a larger salary grant and a greater daily rate.

SCHOOL REFERENDUM

KAMLOOPS, B.C. — A $1,266,000 referendum for additional school accommodation in district 24 is to be ready for presentation to taxpayers in December. Authority has been received by the board of trustees from the department of education for the preparation of sketch plans for the new buildings required.

WOULD CHANGE STORE HOURS

CLOVERDALE — Surrey retail merchants will petition for changes in the Provincial Act dealing with hours of work and the weekly half-day holiday.

The action was taken here Tuesday night at a meeting of retailers after a number of stores were charged with staying open after hours. Stores in Whalley and Cloverdale have been urging a Monday closing but small store owners say they want to stay open all day every day.

SUNDAY SPORT OPPOSED

PENTICTON — Rev. H. T. Allan, secretary of the B.C. Alberta Lord's Day Alliance, said Tuesday he interviewed every political leader in the B.C. legislature and all were opposed to commercialized Sunday sports.

He said at a service club luncheon that under a by-law passed in Vancouver recently, all types of commercial sport other than boxing and wrestling are permitted.

T-Men Rolling in High; Take Boxla Playoff Lead

Rout Pilseners in Opener Of Seven-Game Final

Nanaimo 14, Pilseners 7

NANAIMO (Special)—Nanaimo's explosive Timbermen erupted early and often here Tuesday night to grab a one-game lead in the best-of-seven Intercity Lacrosse League final via a 14-7 rout of the Vancouver Pilseners.

Shifty Bob Raffle ignited the fuse with two quick goals early in the first period.

Bobby Allan and playing coach Harry Wipper followed with goals of their own to give the T-men a 4-0 lead at the end of the quarter.

The winners split six goals with Vancouver in the second quarter to lead, 7-3, and took an 11-5 lead into the final period.

Three for Don Sherry, who didn't score until the third period, rammed three in a row past Vancouver goalie Stan Joseph and was followed by Arnie Dugan as the T-men put the game on ice with four goals while Pils' Bobby Marsh was sitting out a five-minute penalty.

Marsh was penalized for slashing Lyle Scott on the head and drawing blood.

In all, Timbermen scored six goals while Vancouver was short-handed, while the Pils counted twice on Nanaimo netminder Freddy Fulva while having the man advantage.

Referees Sid Greenwood and Eric Dickenson whistled 15 minutes of penalties in the relatively clean game.

Sherry, Wipper and Raffle led the Timbermen attack with three goals each, while league scoring champion Allan added two assists to his two goals.

For the Pilseners, Skip McKay, picking the corners from well out, scored three goals.

Second game of the series will be in Vancouver's Kerrisdale Arena Thursday night, with the third game back in Nanaimo Saturday.

Postponed match will be made up Sept. 8 at Royal Athletic Park.

Argos Meet Cats, Expect Big Crowd

TORONTO (CP)—With the attraction of powerful new floodlights, Ronnie Knox and the return of Al Pfeiffer and Billy Shipp, Toronto Argonauts expect a football record crowd for their home-opener against Hamilton Tiger-Cats tonight.

Argos lost 24-20 in their first Big Four union start Saturday against Montreal Alouettes, but they were playing without ace quarterback Tom Dubinski, end Pfeiffer and tackle Shipp.

The new lights, most powerful in Canada, will make their football debut. They provide 70-foot-candlepower of illumination, as opposed to a top 45-foot-candlepower for other Canadian stadiums.

Under the new lights spectators will see quarterback Gerry Doucette of Argos and Knox of Ticats. Both were on the spot last week.

Knox played his first Canadian game Wednesday after one of the most powerful build-ups in Big Four history. Although Hamilton lost 29-21 to Ottawa, Knox turned in a brilliant display.

SACRAMENTO, Calif.—Joey Lopez, 134, of Sacramento, stopped Ed Cella, 134, Nicaragua (7).

Perfect End Registered In Lawn Bowls

VANCOUVER (CP)—Heavy rain stopped play in the second annual Canadian lawn bowling championship here Tuesday night before the third round could be completed.

At the end of the second round Tuesday afternoon, Alberta representatives were still winners of all their matches.

In the singles Monty Cunningham of Calgary and Jack Linford of Lachine, Que., both won their two starts, but before the rain came at night Cunningham had tasted his first defeat as he lost to Ernest Munro of St. James, Man., 21-6. Linford was losing 17-20 to Walter Ruff of Vancouver when rain stopped play.

Walter Ramage and Robert Denim of Edmonton and George and Walter Beck of Vancouver scored their second wins in the doubles without a defeat. Ramage and Denim beat Bruce and Mack Marshall of Willowdale, Que., 20-19, while Davies and Beck trimmed James M. Drummond and Dr. Charles Weicher of Regina, 31-16. In doing so they registered a perfect count of eight shots on the 13th end.

Alberta and Ontario both won their first two games in the rink competition.

LONGDEN EIGHT SHORT OF RICHARDS' MARK

DEL MAR, Calif. (UP)—Johnny Longden was just eight victories away today from equalling the all-time riding record after capturing two more races at Del Mar race track.

The twin victories Tuesday moved Longden into easy striking distance of Sir Gordon Richards' mark of 4,870 victories. The veteran Longden has booted home double winners for the last four days and at this present pace he should equal the record by Saturday.

TRAIL IN B.C. FINAL

Junior Rocks Go Four Down

Victoria's Junior Shamrocks will go into the second game of their two-game, total-point provincial final with Mount Pleasant Indians with a four-goal deficit as a result of Tuesday's first game at Memorial arena.

Mount Pleasant took advantage of lagging Victoria play in the first and fourth quarters to score a 14-10 victory over the Junior Rocks.

Indians got the jump on Victoria in the early stages of the first period as they rattled in five straight goals before Rocks found the range.

Scores at the end of the quarters were 6-2, 7-4 and 9-6.

Indians seemed to revive once more going into the fourth period just as the Shamrocks started lagging, and the result was another five straight Mount Pleasant tallies.

Junior Rocks fought back, however, from the 14-6 deficit to finish the game in fine style with four straight markers.

Leading scorers for Junior Rocks were Ross Roskamp with three goals and Al Hayton with two. Roskamp also picked up two assists.

In the preliminaries, Norburn Legion bounced Butler Brothers, 12-5, to retain the provincial bantam title, while Saanich peewees downed a pee wee all-star team, 10-5.

Final game for the Junior Rocks is tentatively scheduled for next Wednesday, in Vancouver's Kerrisdale Arena.

Scorers follow:

Mount Pleasant: Lorne Reel, 4; Gordie Gimpel, 2; Don Sailer, 2; Eddie Rank, 2; Tom Murphy, Fred Roseman, Robert Stewart, Don Cumming, Total—14.

Shamrocks: Al Hayton, 3; Ross Roskamp, 3; Bob McKee, Jack Shewers, Keith Lawrence, Len Cheek, Total—14.

Norburn Legion: Gary Stevens, 1; Ralph Plumridge, 1; G. Longman, 1; Crompton, 1; Murray, 1; Total—5.

Saanich: Bruce Mitchell, Dave Collett, Bill Munroe, Murray Southern, Total—5.

Copp Advances In PNW Junior Golf

Medalist Jerry Cundari of 18, Ron Hopkins, Victoria, 24-18, Portland was tumbled early, taking a one up defeat at the hands of Jerry Smythe of Lake Grove, Ore.

Smythe and Copp were paired today in the second round.

Twelve Victorians will be among the 30 anglers who comb the waters of Cowichan Bay Sunday for prizes in the Cowichan Bay Salmon Club's ladder derby shioff.

Heading the list of local anglers will be Sam Lane, whose 37-pound, 8-ounce fish, caught in the third qualifying week, held on to give him the top rung in the final master ladder.

Sunday's shioff starts at 5 a.m. and winds up at 8 p.m. All fish caught must be weighed in at the Government Wharf before 8 p.m.

Final ladder list and weekly trophy winners follow:

1. Sam Lane, Victoria, 37.8
2. Don Jenkins, Salt Spring, 37.4
3. J. Palmer, Lake Cowichan, 36.7
4. J. Hancock, Lake Cowichan, 36.3
5. N. R. Johnston, Mill Bay, 36.2
6. Hugh Reid, Kootenay, 35.8
7. Gordon Lewis, Seattle, 35.1
8. J. Kirkwood, Duncan, 34.8
9. Hugh Gordon, Duncan, 34.5
10. Gordon Lamont, Victoria, 34.0

First Week—Wilsons Lodge Trophy: Won by J. Hancock, Lake Cowichan, 37.8.

HE CAN HIT A LITTLE, TOO

In centre, his speed afoot gets him to the bag even though Kansas City first sacker Vic Power had the ball in time to make the tag. By the way, he can hit a little, too.

Bucs Pennant Block On Milwaukee Road?

IT'S MY VIEW
BY Bill Walker

Stop Braves Again; Dodgers Gain Ground

Are Dale Long and the rest of Pittsburgh's short-lived heroes to become Milwaukee's pennant-block, just as the Pirates were to Brooklyn in 1954?

The Victoria Shamrocks are out of organized lacrosse at the moment.

And, although it's likely they'll be back in the future, there should be no dispute with the decision that put the Mann Cup champions on the sidelines.

The Intercity Lacrosse League Commission acted in the only way possible when they gave the Irish the heaven from the semifinal playdowns against Vancouver Pilseners.

The Irish, as everyone should know by now, walked off the floor in the third quarter of their game with Pilseners last Friday in Vancouver and refused to return. The complaint was against the refereeing.

The commission had no alternative but to forfeit the series to the Pils.

The Rocks, in return, said it was an "emotional" outburst which prompted their refusal to continue and appealed the decision of the series' forfeiture.

The futility of the Shamrock appeal should have been rather obvious.

There Was Nothing to Appeal

In this book, the Irish are at fault and haven't a leg to stand on.

For certainly no team, amateur or pro, junior or senior, champion or also-ran, can walk off the floor or a field during a game and then expect to be invited back into the good graces of the league or organization the next day.

Think what would have happened if the B.C. Lions had refused to play the second half of their game with Edmonton Monday night as they found themselves trailing 11-0 at the half? The Irish position is compounded because they were trailing at the time of their walkout.

Some might say that the Rocks had a point—poor refereeing—but wouldn't it have been much wiser for the Irish to have continued, and played the remainder of the game in question under protest. Then a decision on the play in question which prompted the walkout could have been made.

The commission this year previously reversed a referees' ruling in New Westminster; and if the Rocks had sufficient grounds for protest, were certain they would have received a fair hearing.

But when they walked off and refused to return, they sealed their own fate; and frankly, much as we have admired the Irish for their triumphant march to the Mann Cup finals last year, and their gritty showing through the years, we also admire the stand the commission took in forfeiting the series to the Pilseners. They put the sport before one team.

An Analogy Needed—to the Fans

As matters now stand the Rocks are no longer a member club of the Intercity League; at least that is our understanding from Carl Grauer, Intercity League president. And doubtless before the matter comes to a head again, the Rocks need to apply for re-entry, again according to Grauer, other penalties may be assessed against the Irish.

Certainly some measure of protection will have to be adopted against a possible recurrence (heaven forbid) of the Shamrock walkout.

For what kind of a league would it be if teams started walking out pell-mell through the season because they didn't like the refereeing or other decisions?

The Rocks, in our book, made a grave mistake, and their action was hardly fair to the fans, particularly those who paid to see the game in Vancouver (and got their money back), but more especially to the Victoria fans, who have supported them well, much better than in other centres, through their years in the Intercity League.

And the Irish should be quick to apologize and make amends for their action.

That is the least they can do, but that is what they must do before all that has gone before is lost.

There is no other alternative, as the Shamrocks can not be excused.

Lions Declare Imports; Clinkscale Released

VANCOUVER (CP)—British Columbia Lions of the Western Interprovincial Football Union Tuesday announced the 12 imports they will keep for the 1956 season.

Coach Clem Crowe also announced release of two players and named two he will keep in reserve.

Cut were tackle George Mrkonje, who had played with University of Kansas and the Philadelphia Eagles, and half-back Ron Clinkscale, trying for a second year with the club, who played his college ball at Texas Christian.

In reserve are veteran tackle Chuck Quilter, who played with Edmonton Eskimos before joining the Lions last year and half-back Primo Villaneuva who joined the WIFU club last year from UCLA.

Alan, Bamford, Joseph Top Boxla Honor List

Final Intercity Lacrosse League scoring statistical honors were fairly well divided, with players from three of the four league teams sharing the honors.

Bobby Allan, Nanaimo Timberrmen's wraith-like forward, stormed off with the individual scoring crown and the goal-scoring title.

Allan sniped the league high of 89 goals in 29 games and chalked up a total of 127 points.

Top playmaker was Victoria Shamrocks' Bill Bamford, who was credited with 63 assists and finished fourth with 88 points.

Vancouver Pilsener players took the goal-keeping and penalty divisions.

Stan Joseph, Pils' artistic net-minder, finished the season with a .75 stopping average to nose out Shamrock rookie Don Hamilton by two points.

Pils' burly bulge-boy Bill Barbour was the league's most heavily-sentenced player, drawing 105 minutes in penalties.

TOO MANY MEN

Bombers Violated Player Limit

WINNIPEG (CP)—Commissioner G. Sydney Haller of the Western Interprovincial Football Union says he has not yet received any protest from Calgary Stampeders on their 16-15 loss here Monday night to Winnipeg Blue Bombers.

Pictures of the last play field goal by Tom Miner which gave Bombers the one-point edge show that Winnipeg had 13 men on the field at the time.

Haller said Tuesday night he has had no official complaint from Stampeders manager Bob Masters, who would be viewing the films in Calgary today before lodging a protest.

After seeing his own films here, Bomber coach Al Sherman admitted his club had one too many men on the field when Miner booted the 37-yard field goal. He refused to identify the player who remained on the field after being replaced.

Experienced football observers here felt that Commissioner Haller could not throw out a football game by evidence supplied in movies. In the National Football League, protests taken from pictures generally are ignored.

WINNIPEG (CP)—Retired halfback Tom Casey of Winnipeg Blue Bombers will be honored here Oct. 20 when the Bombers take on Calgary.

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Ann Barclay of Vancouver started a sparkling comeback Tuesday to win her third-round match and joined 15 other girls in the fourth-round of the 39th annual United States girls' lawn tennis championships.

The Canadian junior champion, second-seeded foreign entry in the tournament, lost a hard-fought first set to Adria Fisher of Sunnyside, N.Y., before settling down to win 6-8, 6-4, 6-2.

Three Big Areas Open to Hunters

CHEMANUS—Hunters who are members of a recognized Vancouver Island game club will be able to hunt in the Copper Canyon, Boulder Creek and Sugarloaf
Mountain areas this year, Don Anderson, president of the local Rod and Gun Club, told members this week.

Mr. Anderson said the club had reached an agreement with Mac-Millan and Bloedel Ltd. whereby hunters can travel on company logging roads and hunt behind the company's logging operations at Copper Canyon.

Rod and Gun Club members will also be able to hunt in the Northwest Bay, Nanaimo Lakes, Courte-nav and Port Alberni areas providing they are agreeable to standing gate duty in these areas if called upon. Members of other Island game club will be permitted to hunt here, but must also sign up for patrol and gate duty.

Last year local hunters were allowed to hunt in the Boulder Creek area for the first time in some years, with the understanding that a larger area would be opened up to them if they observed various regulations. The company has fulfilled its promise by making the Sugarloaf area available.

PERMITS NEEDED

All hunters wishing to hunt in the Copper Canyon area will be eligible for gate and patrol duty during the season. In addition to obtaining permits to travel on company access roads, hunters will be required to sign a form agreeing to abide by restrictions laid down by the company and the club. Members will have to produce a duplicate of this agreement before being allowed to pass through the gate at Copper Canyon.

Anyone found violating the agreement will be blacklisted by the various Island clubs and will not be allowed to hunt in the area again.

Rod and Gun Club members have approved $100,000 insurance policy covering the club as a whole and members individually while hunting and fishing.

AROUND AND ABOUT

With Jo Healy

There is a drabness, a sameness, about political campaigns that is depressingly familiar, year after year. The competing parties offer their spate of words in the form of promises, threats and smears directed at the opposition; and even when the promises are honored by the victors and the threats and libel stir the mind to anger or contempt, politics continues to be singularly lacking in color or the feeling that there is any grandeur in the battle. It may be that the cold sterility of over-used words and platitudes pall—so let's try pomp and pageantry.

A headlined phrase that a political party is "girded for battle" fired my imagination. Let's have an election day, but eliminate the tedious voting, throw out the ballot boxes.
Let's put our men in burnished armor, inlaid with silver and gold, plumed helmets on their heads, and, mounted on horses caparisoned in trappings of velvet and satin, have at it with sword and halberd.

IN ANCIENT DAYS WHEN KNIGHTHOOD WAS IN FLOWER, a knight who chose to participate in tournament, hung his shield on a tree, and whoever wished to challenge, touched the shield with his sword, and his name was put on record. So the opponents were lined up, and nobody SAID anything, nobody swore at his opponent.

(of an opposing candidate) tacked up shield-like on a telephone pole, could challenge the opposition to a jousting-match without words, and chivalry would remain intact.

A grand day it would be, a mixture of Dominion Day, Empire Day, and the opening of the Grand National.
Hawkers and concessionaires fill the air with raucous cries;
the heady odor of horseflesh and hotdog vie with that of the seething, swaying crowd; and on the stands the many-hued raiments of the feminine spectators take their colors from the silken scarves aloft the arm of every restive knight—excuse me, candidate—each scarf knotted with care and bearing the device of the lady of his choice.

THE CONSTABULARY HAS BEEN REPLACED BY A
drawn bows guarding the lists down which the contestants, standards borne aloft, thunder on their capricious steeds.
Clash of steel on steel, the shattering thud as the vanquished hits the dust, and the delicate music of mailed armor as the victor strides to the stands to receive the light blow from flat of the word which dubs him lord of the land.

Okay, so I got carried away! 'Tis only a dream, with a little bloodshed but less verbiage, from a more romantic battle-ground than ours.

Coats-of-arms? Well, lately, Island-driving a bit, I'd thought of a bulldozer rampant on a rough road. But who knows, come the September tournament, maybe the fiery griffin will return, quietly couchant, back to them thar Kootenay hills.

Poje Will Take Management Post

Crown Zellerbach Personnel Job
For Well-Known Official of IWA

DUNCAN—Tony Poje, who once served a month in jail for defying a court injunction, has resigned from his post as president of the 5,000-member Local 1-80 of the International Woodworkers of America.

Reason for his resignation was to return to work as a scaler for Comox Logging Co., but it is understood he will take a position shortly with Crown Zellerbach Co. as a personnel officer.

STOPPED LOADING

Holder of a university degree, and victim of a logging accident in which he lost an arm, Mr.
Poje led a party of IWA pickets who prevented loading of a ship in Nanaimo in September, 1952, in the face of a court injunction restraining the picketing.

Cited for contempt of court, he was fined $3,000 and sentenced to three months in jail.
The IWA paid his fine, and his jail term was ended by royal clemency after about a month.

Shortly after he was elected to presidency of the local, His L. Smythe, first vice-president, place will be taken by George of Cayuse.

BETWEEN TIMES By MONTE ROBERTS

I am continually amazed by today's merchandizing system. Under today's merchandizing system, I cannot understand how anything gets bought or anything gets sold. It is not the problems of production which bother me, nor does the cost of living index in relation to purchasing power affect me in the least.

What I cannot understand is, how does anything get purchased when there is so much from which to choose? Nearly every advertisement in the public prints contains the phrase, "your choice of . . ." or "a wide variety from which to choose."

Automobile manufacturers, for instance, offer a "complete range of models from which to choose." The average automobile manufacturer has convertibles, two doors, four doors, outboards, indoors, hardtops, flat-tops, station wagons, estate wagons, and, for all I know, tail waggin's.

Not content with impenetrable variety of colors from which to choose, and not just simple, single, colors, either, but weird and wonderful two-tone, three-tone, three-and-a-half-tone, and quintuple-tone combinations.

Faced with such a bewildering variety, how can the poor consumer make his choice?

I am told by reliable sources that automobiles are being sold, but I don't know how. The poor, bewildered consumer probably puts on a blindfold, spins around three times, and uses the pin-the-tail-on-the-donkey technique.

The same problem arises in the field of furniture merchandising.

Here are offered various furniture groupings—bedroom groups, kitchen groups, living room groups.

Which, on the face of it, should simplify matters. Even the most confused buyer should know which room in the house he wishes to furnish.

But the trouble is, these furniture groups all give you "your choice of" various combinations.

You are offered an end table or a coffee table or a small table or a tall table, and how can you make up your mind?

I have known women who have haunted furniture stores days on end, trying to decide between the antimacassar and the headed motto "Bless Our Home" which were alternates in the $89.95 grouping.

There are many more examples in the field of merchandising from which to choose—cosmetics, silverware, china, nylon stockings—but I must confess I can't make up my mind which example to choose.

All I can say is, there is too much freedom of choice these days.

'GIFT' SAYS ENVOY

Spanish Windows For Nootka Church

BY TONY DICKASON
Spain is providing stained glass windows for the rebuilt Roman Catholic church at Nootka, one of the first churches ever constructed in North America, Spanish Ambassador Eduardo de Callejon disclosed here today.

The aquiline-faced aristocratic ambassador is determined to spark a revival of Spanish cultural interest on the West Coast, and while in Victoria will meet with the chief of the naval museum in Esquimalt.

"In the museum in Madrid are many things of interest which tie in with early Spanish inroads here," he said, "and it is likely your museum would be interested in receiving some of these things."

They would be "a gift."

For instance, Malaspina's scientific expedition to this coast in the 1700s brought many items back to Spain, and his traditions still linger here—a hotel in Nanaimo, for instance, bears his name.

Galiano, Valdez, Quadra—Spanish names abound throughout the area.

The ambassador said he expected to return here for dedication of the windows in the Nootka church.

His excellency tossed out a little known point of history regarding Russia.

Said he: "On three different occasions Spain stopped the Russians from coming here, in 1773, in 1780, and in the 1790s. Perhaps this is one of the reasons they aren't here now."

"They were very imperialistic."

On immigration, he said talks had just started on the federal level, and the situation to date for immigrants had been "quite difficult" because of work contracts required by the Canadian government.

TO IMPROVE
"I think these things will improve."

Vancouver Island, due to climate, would be a location where immigrant Spaniards would be pleased to settle, as well as "because things here are growing and developing so quickly."

The ambassador said company buyers from throughout the world were increasing in his country, buying such items as porcelain while tourists, especially from the United States, had been increasing steadily "the last few years."

He said that his government is endeavoring to establish a link with CPA's over-the-pole Vancouver-Amsterdam route to bring more visitors to Spain, and this is one of the reasons he is now visiting the west coast.

To help boost trade, a Spanish trade office, the first, will be opened in Montreal this fall.

Hotel, Parking Garage To Cost $1.5 Million

Downtown Site Sought For Start Next Year

Construction of a luxury $1,500,000 hotel and adjoining mechanical parking garage in the downtown area of Victoria is planned to start early next year.

Only hitch to the scheme is acquisition of suitable property. The Times was told today by A. M. Arnold of Vancouver, in the city this week to iron out final details.

Negotiations for a block-long property in the heart of the city now are in progress, Mr. Arnold said, and a further announcement is expected within three weeks.

If these negotiations should fail, the promoters have an alternate site in the downtown area that would be suitable for the hotel, first-of-its type in Canada.

The six-story, 100-room hotel will be completely modern in design, with beds that fold back into the walls to leave large sitting rooms furnished with settees.

The five-level garage, which will be filled by means of electrically-operated elevators, has a capacity of 275 cars. It is designed to handle day and night commercial parking as well as hotel business.

FINANCING
Financing would be handled by a syndicate comprising mostly Vancouver and Victoria business leaders.

Mr. Arnold is general manager of Mechanicalpark Systems of Edmonton, which will design and install the parking garage.

A similar garage combined with an office building was scheduled to get underway in Edmonton but plans were halted by the recent steel strike.

Construction of the hotel-garage here will be of reinforced concrete.

FIRST OF STRING
The Victoria installation is now planned as the first of a string across Canada.

An office building combined with the garage was considered here but it was decided the hotel would be most practical.

"Victoria needs a first-class hotel," Mr. Arnold said.

He added that parking had become a serious problem for downtown merchants and there was a need for more space.

The mechanical-type garage, rather than ramps, is most suited to the property the group has in mind, Mr. Arnold said.

Similar installations have been made in United States cities where the parking problem is acute.

Architects for the Victoria project are Wade, Stockhill & Armour, 1020 Government.

Plans call for renting of space to stores on the ground level of the hotel.

The hotel will have a main front entrance as well as a side entrance from the garage, which will be joined to the hotel by a narrow breezeway.

Construction is expected to take about one year.

Crash Victim 'Very Nervous,' Says Friend

Accidental Death, Verdict of Jury

Testimony at an inquest today into the death last Thursday of Aaro Manninen, 29, revealed he had been "very nervous for about a month" before his car took a fatal plunge from a steep slope on Mount Douglas.

His boarding mate at 514 Dallas road, Kally Kajander, testified that Manninen "seemed to be like a drunk" on the morning of the accident, but didn't smell of liquor.

"He was very nervous for about a month," Kajander said. Coroner's jury returned a verdict of "accidental death" after one minute's deliberation.

HORRIBLE
"There is a remote possibility of suicide but you'd hardly think a man would take this horrible way of doing away with himself," remarked Coroner E. C. Hart.

Manninen was pinned behind the steering wheel and his car was completely demolished when Saanich constables Norman Baker and Robert Coleman spotted the wreck on a routine patrol at 10.40 p.m.

Dr. E. L. McNiven who arrived at the scene within a half-hour, estimated that Manninen had died approximately two hours before.

"I could detect no odor of alcohol in the car or around the body," he told the jury.

FRACTURED SKULL
He said the victim had suffered two fractures in the left arm, a fractured left thigh bone and circular cuts below the knee. He traced immediate cause of death to a fractured skull.

The death car apparently came around a sweeping curve on Mount Douglas, then veered left, crashing into a tree 20 feet down the slope.

Auto wreckers examined emergency and foot brakes and found them in good condition. There was no indication on the road that Manninen had applied brakes, said Constable Baker.

Road surface was dry and there was good visibility.

Constable Baker estimated the speed of the car at 70 miles per hour, basing his estimate on the amount of damage.

Inquest was held at Thomson Funeral Home.

150 Radiologists Meeting in City
National convention of the Canadian Society of Radiological Technicians started its 14th annual gathering here today in the Empress Hotel, with 150 delegates registered.

An address of welcome on behalf of the provincial government was scheduled to be given this afternoon by Health Minister Eric Martin, on behalf of the city by Acting Mayor W. F. Pinfold, and on behalf of the Canadian Medical Association by the president of the British Columbia division, Dr. E. W. Boak, of Victoria.

ASK THE TIMES
Q.—Will you kindly enlighten me concerning the origin of the term "visiting firemen" as applied to out-of-town colleagues in a similar profession or business descending upon one for a visit? B.C.H.

A.—This column has failed to find trustworthy documentary matter on this subject. It is known, however, that in a number of small cities on this continent it was the custom of members of their volunteer fire departments to sleep in the firehall to speed up their response to alarms, and any member of another town's fire department would usually find a spare bed in the firehall of the town he was visiting he might use without cost. It is suggested the term visiting firemen may have had its origin in that friendly practice, and that with the passage of decades it was extended to organizations other than fire brigades.

This explanation is plausible. Having stated a tentative answer along to The Times, addressed to "Ask The Times" Editor. Questions and answers will be published daily.

All questions should deal with matters of fact and be of general interest. The Times does not undertake to solve conundrums.

Economic Survey May Be Asked In Merger Probe

Group Envisages Study by Province

The B.C. department of municipal affairs may be called upon to furnish a technical survey of Greater Victoria municipal economies.

There were indications today the request might be the next step by a committee formed by Greater Victoria councils to study the long-discussed amalgamation issue.

Questioned on the matter today, Victoria Acting Mayor W. F. Pinfold said such a step is "a good suggestion."

But he said he would not call for the move without further consultation with other city delegates to the committee which held its first meeting on Tuesday.

At the Tuesday meeting, ex-officio member, deputy minister of municipal affairs J. E. Brown, said:

"We are prepared to give any assistance we can according to your evaluation of the problem."

He said there were two phases to the problem of amalgamation—the economics and the social implications.

The deputy minister felt the social implications must be decided by each municipality.

"Does each municipality want to retain its identity?"

Acting mayor Pinfold said he felt the committee would have to go further into the question than the recently-completed report by the Canadian Research Institute of Canada.

EXPERTS HEEDED
"If councils are intent on exploring the issue it will cost money to dig out the facts concerning each department of municipal business. We are only laymen. It would require engineering experts. Would we be willing to foot the bill?"

He agreed today that perhaps the provincial government would be willing to undertake such a report.

At the next meeting of the amalgamation committee, a digest of the Citizens' Research Institute report will be studied.

It is anticipated that if the committee is to go on from there, the actual mechanics of a move toward union (a field glossed over in the earlier report) will have to be explored.

Before the municipalities will consider spending money for such a technical survey, it is thought likely an approach will be made to the provincial department.

Funeral Today For Mrs. Haynes, Old-Time Citizen
Funeral services were scheduled to be held this afternoon for Mrs. Matilda Ann Haynes, daughter of a pioneer Victoria family and lifetime resident here.

She died Tuesday at the age of 79. Rev. Archdeacon A. E. deL. Nunn was to officiate at the service in Hayward's chapel at 3 p.m. Burial will follow at Colwood Cemetery.

Mrs. Haynes was the widow of Arthur Edward Haynes, founder of one of Victoria's oldest real estate firms, who died in 1935.

She is survived by three daughters, Marjorie and Kathleen, who lived with their mother at 921 Foul Bay Road, and Mrs. L. H. Davies; two sons, Harold E. and Stanley Arthur, and four grandchildren, all of Victoria.

It's Back-to-School Time And Stores Are Ready, Too

By PENNY SAVER

The stores are overflowing with back-to-school supplies, so I'll get into the act, too, and tell you about a three-ring loose-leaf binder that has a new feature added. There's an extension bookholder attached by wide elastic tape. Rather than carry books precariously perched on top of the case, tuck them into the flap and there they'll stay neat, solid and handy. The flap holds three or four books, and the elastic makes it possible to tuck them in snugly. The binder itself is made of a "look-like" leather that's embossed. It's available in blue, tan and oxblood colors. The cost is $4.95.

Six scenes from sports are depicted on the covers of another loose-leaf binder. This one will appeal to the boys. Inside are two large pockets, and on one are sections for a pass booklet, an eraser, ruler, pencil and note pad. This, too, is a three-ring binder, and costs $4.95.

Some time ago I mentioned plastic brief cases that would be good for music. Now you can buy the ones I mentioned, formerly priced at $1.50, at $1.25, and similar ones, with the same plastic slide zipper and pressed seams, at 89 cents. The colors are red, green, black, brown or tan.

Novel change purses with a local flavor can be found in a local leathers goods store. These purses are shaped like sailors' caps. $1.95.

Langford Notes

Pie. Peter Goodmanson, RCME, who is here from Montreal visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Goodmanson, Goldstream Ave., Langford Lake, will leave for the east again on Friday. He recently accompanied his mother and brother Graham to South Pender Island to visit his sister Miss Kristin Goodmanson and his aunt, Mrs. B. Louise of Victoria who, with her family has been spending the summer on South Pender.

Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Sewell, Dunford Ave., Langford, who have been spending the month at Quadra Island will return to their home on Friday.

Mrs. T. McKay entertained at a musicale at her home on Dunford Ave., Langford, in honor of Mrs. James Rennie, a visitor from Glasgow, who has been staying with Mrs. D. Pringle, Dunford Ave. Mrs. Rennie is now en route east visiting various points on the way before embarking for Scotland on Sept. 11. Afternoon tea was served. Among the guests were Mrs. H. Simpson and her house guests, Mrs. D. Stearn from Alberta, Mrs. D. Pringle, and Miss O. Lister.

Mr. and Mrs. R. R. Matthias, Dunford Ave., have returned home after spending the past two weeks visiting relatives in Alberta. While there, they attended the wedding of Mrs. Matthias's brother, Mr. Jack Pritchard.

Mr. and Mrs. Ken Dillabaugh of Victoria have returned from a motor trip east where they visited friends in Toronto.

COFFEE CONSUMPTION

Coffee drinkers in the United States averaged a daily 2.68 cups last winter.

and officers' hats. The sailor hats are either black or white, in the softest of leather. The officers' peaked caps have gold embossed "braid" on the peaks, and also come in winter or summer colors. On the bands of the hats are written "HMCS Magnificent," "HMCS Stadacona," or "HMCS Shearwater". The Sailors' hats are $1.50 and officers' caps, $1.95.

Round straw mats that serve as place mats or as centrepiece mats are selling at the low price of 69 cents. They come in a bright yellow, red, pink or black, and are a good size. They'll last and last, and will fit with almost any decor.

A Canadian co-op paper has proposed a set of rules to guide shoppers, and I thought you might be interested. Here's the first one on the list: Know as thoroughly as possible the goods and services available in your community.

Arnet-Johnson Wedding Solemnized in Tofino

A wedding of interest took place recently in Tofino when Miss Goldie Otella Johnson, Vancouver, became the bride of Roland Walter Arnet, Tofino.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Nick Johnson of Vancouver, and the groom, a Tofino pioneer family, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Arnet, grandson of the late Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Arnet, and maternal grandson of Mrs. R. C. Erickson and the late Mr. Erickson, all of Tofino.

Rev. John W. Leighton performed the double-ring ceremony in St. Columba Anglican Church, which relatives and friends of the young couple had decorated with summer flowers.

On the arm of her father, the young bride entered the church to the strains of Lohengrin's "Wedding March" played by organist, Mrs. Ian Macleod.

For the ceremony, the bride wore a white lace over net and satin gown with empire waistline, and billowing waltz-length skirt with accordion pleating of net in the front and velvet trim. The bodice, inset with net and trimmed with velvet, was covered with a long-sleeved lace jacket. Her headpiece was a satin tiara trimmed with pearls and sequins, and held a scalloped edged fingertip veil. She carried a white prayer book, the groom's gift, and a small bouquet of pink roses, white stephanotis and white satin streamers.

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

At least half the battle for attractiveness is won when a woman becomes well groomed. Even a sparkling personality loses its bang when it is packaged in wispy hair, a muddy complexion or poorly cared for fingernails.

The appearance of being beautifully groomed doesn't just happen. It is impossible to achieve if you just give yourself a little hurried attention at the last minute. The shining hair, the glowing skin, the lovely figure and attractive nails reflect constant attention. You are certain to be deficient in grooming and to be caught unaware sometime unless you have a plan.

No one routine would fit the lives of all women but there are certain essentials which every woman should observe and must fit into her daily schedule at the time most convenient for her.

For instance, if you live alone you may want to do your exercise in the morning before you go to work and you may wish to apply an oily cream at night. If you are married you may find it much more convenient for you to take your exercises after the family leaves in the morning for work and for school. You will not want to wear cold cream at night and probably wish to let it soak into your skin, if it is dry, during the daytime while you go about your household duties. This is an excellent time for skin lubrication. You can leave the cream on until after you have had your bath in the afternoon.

There are so very many things we are told we should do for health and good looks that it is sometimes discouraging or at least bewildering. For that reason I have planned a daily routine in which I have placed only the things which seem to me to be essential.

It may appear almost impossible to fit this care of yourself into your busy life. However, if you will work out a routine and stick with it whenever possible you will not miss the lost minutes which are used in this way. You soon will take your rest period for granted just as you do the knowledge that you will eat three meals a day.

Each woman's routine must differ as her life does, but a few minutes a day invested in YOU will actually ward off the aging process for you. You owe yourself some care and some time.

If you would like to have the leaflet "Essential Daily Routine," send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No. 19 to Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

Welcome Home Party

Mr. and Mrs. George Holt returned home recently after spending nearly four months abroad. They spent two months with a son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. B. Quintance, who are with the Canadian forces in Germany, and travelled in Italy, Holland and England. Last Monday evening Victoria friends and 20 relatives gathered at the home of their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph G. Holt, 933 Shirley Street, for a surprise "welcome home" party in their honor.

After Rehearsal

This evening following the wedding rehearsal for their daughter, Patricia and Mr. Evan Stewart, who are to be married on Friday, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Pickup will entertain the wedding party at their home on Falkland Road. Invited guests are Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Stewart, Mr. and Mrs. W. Hubbard, Mr. and Mrs. D. Podmore, Mr. and Mrs. D. Prezeau, Mrs. L. Fulton, Mrs. A. Roach, Miss Andrea Fulton, Miss Anita Roach, Miss Wendy Cox, Mr. Fred Stone, Mr. Herb Pickup, Jr., and Mr. John Jefferies.

Wedding Guests

Guests who attended the recent Sands-Main wedding in First United Church included Mrs. J. Bueschgens, New Westminster; Mr. and Mrs. J. Conn, Pioneer Mines, B.C.; Mr. and Mrs. W. Kerr, North Vancouver; Mrs. P. Stone and David and Mrs. C. Campbell, Edmonton; Mrs. E. Mortensen and Inger, Leduc; and Miss Dorothy-Mae Charles, Vancouver.

English Visitor

Miss Dorothy Walker, Nottingham, Eng., was a visitor in the city last weekend, staying at the Angela Hotel. She was the guest of Miss Margaret Clay who entertained at a small dinner in her honor at Oak Bay Beach Hotel on Saturday evening. Miss Walker, an observer at the International Congress of Business and Professional Women in Montreal in early July, has been travelling in Canada since that time. With members of the Victoria Business and Professional Women's Club she went to Port Angeles last Sunday for the annual across-the-border picnic, held jointly with the BPW Club of that city.

Here for Wedding

Mr. and Mrs. B. O. Burton, of Chicago, Ill.; Mr. and Mrs. John Gano, of Marion, Ohio, and Mr. and Mrs. Bruce McLean, of Haney, B.C., with Tommy and Susan, are visitors in Victoria, staying with Mr. and Mrs. S. L. Burton at their home, 3850 Epsom Drive. They are all here to attend the wedding of Miss Joan Martin and Mr. Richard Burton, which takes place on Friday evening.

Summer in East

Mrs. D. M. Boyd, with her four children, Robin, Lindsay, Mossom and Jill, returned to her Beach Drive home on Monday after a two-month visit with her mother, Mrs. Melville Grant, at the Grant summer home near Toronto.

Lethbridge Wedding Of Interest on Island

In a nuptial mass in St. Patrick's Church in Lethbridge, Alta., Miss Pierette Cecile Juras, daughter of Mrs. Fabiola Juras, Dupcan, and the late Mr. Herman Juras, exchanged marriage vows with William Nicholas Slovack, son of Mr. and Mrs. Mathew Slovack, Lethbridge.

Rev. L. Viney, O.M.I., performed the ceremony in the church where the altar was banked with baskets and bouquets of pink and white gladioli. Organist was Mrs. M. McCallum of Lethbridge.

The bride was given in marriage by her eldest brother, F.L. Gilles Juras of Trenton, Ont.

For the ceremony, the bride wore a fitted princess style gown with floor-length skirt posed over crinoline. The bodice was of French lace over satin outlined with crystal sequins, and the neckline, in Grecian style, formed a V in the back from which tiny self buttons extended to the waist. The sleeves were long, tapering into lily points over the hands. A tiny seed pearl crown held her imported illusion net veil which was appliqued with the same design as the skirt of her gown. Her only jewelry was a pair of small pearl earrings. She carried a mother of pearl prayer book topped with a mauve orchid from which streamed ribbons of satin knotted with lily of the valley.

The bride's sister, Mrs. Anne Juras, of Portneuf, Que., was maid of honor. She wore a cocktail-length gown of shrimp nylon tulle fashioned with a full skirt. Her headpiece was a crown trimmed with lily of the valley. Pale shrimp gladioli and white carnations entwined with ivy were in her bouquet. Flower girl was Yvonne Juras, niece of the bride. She wore a white embossed nylon frock and a matching headdress. She carried a basket of shrimp gladioli and white carnations.

Best man was Peter Kutney of Calgary and ushers were Kenneth Seaman of Lethbridge and John Burton of Calgary.

A reception followed in the El Rancho banquet room, where dinner was served. The bride's table was centred with a three-tier wedding cake topped with a miniature bride and groom ornament. Master of ceremonies was Jack Lamb of Detroit, Mich. Toast to the bride was proposed by her uncle, F. Laroche, of Ponteix, Sask. Following the reception, relatives and friends gathered at the home of the groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Slovack, for the evening, after which dancing was enjoyed by the younger group at the Henderson Lake Pavilion.

Following a honeymoon trip to Yellowstone National Park and points in western United States, Mr. and Mrs. Slovack will live at 1914 5th Avenue NE, Calgary.

For traveling, the bride donned a princess style strapless black and white dress of Italian lace topped with a duster coat of black crystal with black accessories and an orchid corsage.

Of Personal Interest

In Vancouver

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Roberts have returned from Vancouver where they attended the Fugman-Mallek wedding there last Sunday. The Roberts, who have spent the summer at Shawinigan Lake, will go up to that summer resort for the long weekend before returning to their Victoria home on Foul Bay Road.

Brothers Return

Walter Hanaka Jr. and his brother, Frank Hanaka, who have spent the summer in eastern Ontario with relatives, are returning to Victoria on Saturday. They are the sons of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Hanaka, 1123 Ormond street.

Mallory Cup Race

Miss Elizabeth Baess and Mr. Jorgan Baess will travel to Seattle next week to race on Lake Washington in competition for the North American championship Mallory Cup. The brother-and-sister combination will be sailing Blanchards, and will be representing the Pacific International Yachting Association. Eight teams representing different areas in Canada and the United States will be competing in the four-day event, which begins Sept. 10.

LEAVING FOR OTTAWA

Miss Margaret McMunagle leaves Friday to travel to Ottawa, where she will enter the Ottawa Civic Hospital school of nursing. Originally from Edinburgh, Scotland, Miss McMunagle has lived in Victoria for the past five years, and is a 1955 graduate of Victoria High School. She is the daughter of Mrs. Harriet McMunagle, Alpar Apartments, Hampshire road.

Miss Barbara M. Main Is Bride In a Ceremony in First United

While Mrs. J. Roberto Wood played traditional wedding music, Miss Barbara Madeline Main, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Main, 4108 Hawkes avenue, entered First United Church for her wedding to John Leonard Sands, son of Mrs. L. J. Sands, Leduc, Alta., and the late Mr. Sands.

Rev. A. L. Higgins performed the ceremony in which the young couple exchanged vows and rings. Mr. Wood, upon the bride's arrival, sang "O Perfect Love". At the end of the service he sang the Hebrew Benediction and during the signing of the register, the "Wedding Prayer".

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was gownned in a heavy brocade satin dress fashioned with a full flared skirt posed over crinolines. The strapless bodice was topped with a matching jacket with long lily point sleeves and a semi-Elizabethan collar. An all-bow-length embroidered veil misted from a tiara of pearls and sequins. Her jewelry, pearls, was a gift of the groom. She completed her ensemble with a spray cascade of red roses and stephanotis.

Miss Shirley J. Main, sister of the bride, was maid of honor, and wore a floor-length gown of ice blue nylon sheer over taffeta with a shirred bodice and three-quarter length sleeves. She wore a matching feather bandeau and carried a crescent cascade of honny briar and pink carnations.

The groom had his brother-in-law, Orville G. Fox as best man, and Bruce W. Main, brother of the bride, and R. Allan Mercer ushered guests to pews marked with posies of as-ters.

A reception was held in the Golden Slipper, where a three-tier cake topped with sweet-heart roses and surrounded with tulle centred the bride's table, which was decorated with vases of pink roses. The cake was decorated by Mrs. Ina Catterall, a friend of the bride's family. W. H. Martindale, friend of the bride's family, proposed the toast to the bride.

For her going-away outfit, the bride wore a blue worsted suit and topcoat with pink and navy accessories and a corsage of pink rapture roses.

Mr. and Mrs. Sands will live in Leduc, Alta., following their honeymoon on the Island and in Northern United States en route to Leduc.

Sooke Girl Guides' Division Holds Three Summer Camps

Terminating the Girl Guides' camping season for Sooke division, Langford company spent 10 days of camping under canvas recently on the McMin property, Millstream road.

Three individual camps were held this year, the first company camps to be held in the division. Under leadership of its captain,

Miss M. E. Tawney, Langford company pitched its own tents, built its own cook stove and various conveniences necessary for a good camp. Swimming was enjoyed each day under supervision of Ranger Captain Mrs. P. Colclough, who arranged the water sports program held prior to breaking camp. On the eve of closing a campfire was held to which parents and friends who helped in the success of the camp were invited. Skits were presented by the Guides together with campfire singing. Refreshments were served.

Many Guides were able to complete second class tests and commence first class work, while others were able to start working for proficiency badges. All of which was given under ideal conditions and settings, which are not available at Guide meetings in the winter.

Church services were held both Sundays. The first Guides Own being conducted by Miss Tawney, while the last Sunday service was conducted by the patrol leaders under Miss Ann Humphries.

Children Should Always Accept Gifts Graciously

By ELIZABETH B. HURLOCK, PhD

One of the important lessons every child should learn is to accept gifts graciously.

Q—"When my children were young, they always loved the toys and books my relatives and friends gave them for Christmas and birthday gifts. Now the situation is changed, and I don't know just what to do about it. My children are eight, 11 and 14. Many of our relatives live out of town and, naturally, don't see the children often enough to know just what to give them. The same is true of some of our friends. The children get so annoyed at the gifts they receive, make all sorts of unpleasant remarks about the gifts, and even say that if people can't give them anything better than that, they shouldn't give them anything. They won't even write thank-you notes for these gifts until I literally drive them to do so. Do tell me how to cope with this problem."—S.S.

A—"Your children are quite old enough to understand that the giving of a gift means sacrifice in time, effort, and money on the part of the donor. They are also old enough to understand that older people who see them only very occasionally cannot be expected to know just what the children like or could use best.

"They must be made to realize that people must be thanked, and thanked graciously, for any gift they give, regardless of whether the recipient likes the gift or not. They are thanking the giver for the thought involved more than for the gift.

In the case of your relatives and close friends—who are accustomed to giving your children gifts regularly—you might help them and your children too by tactful suggestions ahead of time about what the children want or need. Be sure to suggest things below the price range your relatives and friends use for their gifts as the suggestions will then be received more gratefully than if you suggested things that cost more than they are accustomed to pay. Then, too, you can always exchange gifts the children do not like and get them what they like.

Send your problems to Elizabeth Hurlock, in care of this newspaper.

In Honor of the Bride

Miss Caroline Hiscock, a popular bride-elect, has been honored with many bridal showers prior to her forthcoming marriage.

Mrs. Martin Smith, 600 Atkins road, entertained with a miscellaneous shower, when gifts were presented in a large decorated box with wedding and engagement rings forming the decorations. A corsage of yellow and pink-toned gladioli tied with pink and silver ribbon was given the guest of honor, while her mother, Mrs. M. I. Hiscock, received a yellow gladioli corsage with blue and silver ribbon. Guests were Mrs. K. Johnson, grandmother of the bride; Mrs. A. Duggan, Mrs. O. Smith, Mrs. L. Smith, Mrs. J. Moffatt, Mrs. T. Howe, Mrs. W. Malloch, Mrs. K. Johnson, Mrs. F. Isaacson, Mrs. E. Nicholson, Mrs. J. Nicholson, Mrs. A. Smith, Mrs. N. Smith, Mrs. E. Jackson, Mrs. H. Hoag, Misses Joan Middlemiss, Sharon Smith, Georgina Hiscock, Gloria Hiscock and Ann Newham.

Miss Hiscock's fellow classmates of the graduating class of 1956 at Belmont High School surprised her with a miscellaneous shower at her own home. Present were Misses Carol Sudhues, Joan Middlemiss, Audrey Morgan, Shiella Arden, Beverly Erickson, Georgina Hiscock, Gloria Hiscock, Maxine Kennedy, Marilyn Moseley and Gail Thomson.

A plastic clothes basket was a gift and gift container at a shower party held by Mrs. Stanley Hiscock, Happy Valley road, for her niece, Caroline Hiscock.

A dainty fan decorated with beignons was presented to the guest of honor, while her mother, Mrs. M. I. Hiscock, received a gladioli corsage. Tiny shower umbrellas decorated the tea table. The bride-to-be's cousins, Mary Anne and Leigh Hiscock, and her sisters, Gloria and Georgina Hiscock, served refreshments. Other guests were Mrs. F. Wilway, Mrs. E. Hutchinson, Mrs. C. Carnegie, Mrs. A. Middlemiss, Mrs. G. Hiscock, Mrs. A. Baxter, Mrs. Panting, Sr., Mrs. A. Duggan, Mrs. K. Johnson, Mrs. A. Smart, Mrs. A. Hiscock, Mrs. T. Atkinson, Misses Joan Middlemiss, Elva Hiscock and Janet Hiscock.

Miss Barbara Jones was honored at a miscellaneous shower recently when her sister, Miss Beverly, and Miss Lucy Tomczyk entertained at the Jones' home, 2575 Blackwood street. A gaily decorated umbrella of pink and white was surrounded by the many gifts. Miss Jones, her mother, Mrs. D. E. Jones, her grandmother, Mrs. J. C. Switzer and the groom-elect's mother, Mrs. J. Small received corsages of dahlias in varying tones. Guests were Mrs. F. Bentley, Mrs. R. Lyall, Mrs. A. Anderson, Mrs. C. Mackie, Mrs. S. Tomczyk, Mrs. A. Smith, Mrs. R. Small, Mrs. F. Switzer, Mrs. J. Logie, Mrs. A. Happy, Mrs. R. Curtis, Mrs. R. Garden, Misses Hazel Stevens, Suzanne Buttrey, Yvonne Spencer, Doreen Coles, Gwen Leaver, Marlene King and Lois Bell.

Children love raisins and probably their favorite way is by the handful, straight from the box. These are healthful treats, too, since raisins are bulging with iron and other essential minerals and vitamins.

Locally Designed 'Sea Toboggan' Easy to Build

A small sailing craft that will give international dinghies and even Stars tough competition has been designed by H. G. Dimsdale, C.E., 1385 Rockland Avenue, especially for boys.

Any lad handy with his hands can build the "Sea Toboggan."

Without the sail it makes a grand car-top boat for fishing. Two sheets of quarter-inch marine plywood 12 feet long and four feet wide form the bottom and sides of a Sea Toboggan. 12½ feet long, four feet wide on the bottom and five feet beam on top.

The only seams are where sides and bottom meet. These are covered by chines which are nailing grounds, extending from transom to bow plank. The stern is a one-inch transom and the bow is a one and one-half inch plank 12½ wide, 32" long on top and 39" on the bottom.

Construction: Galvanized nails, flush on outside, bent and clenched when possible, inside. Select suitable lengths.

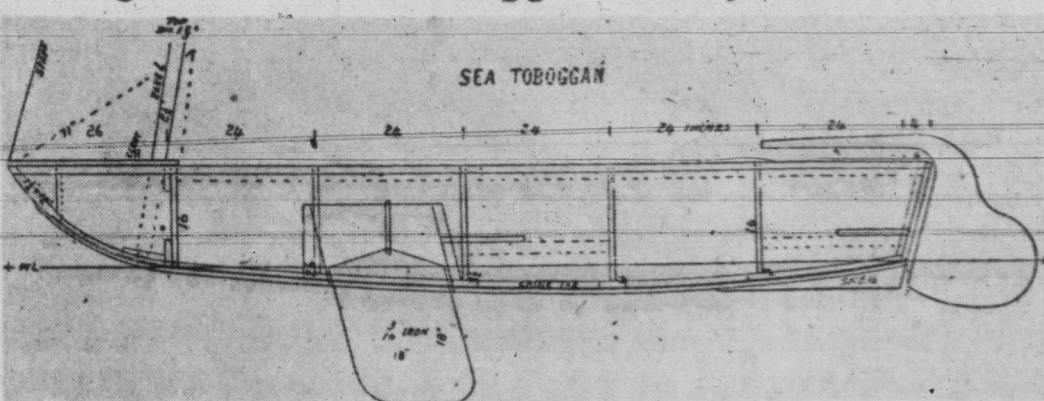

Cut out five cross-section forms shown on the plan and nail securely through the 1"x4" frames of the bottom, leaving space on each side for the 1"x2" chines. Note that the forward cross-section has the bottom 1"x4" vertical. Deduct one-quarter inch from measurement of bottom and sides to allow for plywood; plan measurements are outside the plywood.

Cut out the bow plank and the transom, deducting ¼" from the transom. Set up two sills of 2x4, 13 feet long, two feet above the floor, nailing three feet apart at the stern and two feet apart at the bow; set on edge. Nail temporary collar braces at the top of each of the four cross-section forms.

Set the forms upside down on the sills, 2 feet apart, centre to centre and nail collar braces to sills.

Fit in 1"x2" chines and nail securely to frames.

Cut out plywood sides and nail to frames, stern and the triangular sections which are nailed securely to the bow raked 19-foot mast and Marconi sail. Plywood is used extensively in construction.

plank. Space nails 2". Use a bradawl to make holes for all nails in the plywood. Lay the bottom plywood and mark it on sides and ends then cut it out.

Nail the centreboard inside the bottom, making a ¼" wide slit for the centreboard. Nail the bottom every 2" to the chines, transom and bow plank. The radius for the bow curve is shown 71" long. Make this curve exact. Nail the mast step to the cross-section and to the plywood bottom, then turn the boat right side up.

Nail the 1"x8" mast board with mast hole made, and a one-half inch hole near the bow for the "painter" which is ¾" cotton rope, 12 feet long. Shove the painter down through the hole and knot it to prevent pulling out. Nail plywood each side the plank to complete the deck.

A stay iron at each corner of the bow plank is nailed with the hole for the stay above deck. A light wire stay from masthead on each side is secured to the stay irons, preferably with light sash cords which may be cut in an emergency and the mast unstepped.

Nail a cleat at each corner of the transom and at the bow, for halyard and main sheet. Pass the sheet around a stern cleat.

Never knot it on the cleat. Nail the 1"x1" mouldings outside the gunwales from bow to stern. Fit in oarlock blocks and the 1"x2" top strip, inside, after the collar braces are removed.

Nail on the 1"x4" skeg. Turn the boat upside down and nail on the 1"x4" keel from bow to stern. A 1"x2"x4" strip home.

Army Orders Transport Plane

OTTAWA (CP)—A Canadian aircraft company has received a government go-ahead to develop a new troop-carrying plane which may enable the army to operate its own air transport service.

The defence department announced Tuesday the new plane is being developed for the army by de Havilland Aircraft of Canada Ltd. of Toronto. It is understood the government will help finance the project.

A department official said the prototype is not expected to be produced and tested for at least a year.

The twin-engine plane likely will be a larger version of de Havilland's famous Otter, a 12-passenger, single-engine plane able to take off from an 85 foot runway.

Army specifications call for a plane able to carry about 20 soldiers with full equipment

TWO PRIZES AWARDED PARKSVILLE NEWSPAPER

PARKSVILLE—Two prizes were won by the Parksville-Qualicum Beach Progress at the annual meeting of the Canadian Weekly Newspaper Association in Murray Bay, Que.

The local paper, edited and published by Arthur Cottrell, won third place in the competition for best-all-round newspaper among those with a circulation of less than 1,000.

It took second prize in the competition for best-looking front pages in this circulation group.

Atomic Power for Alaska?

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Atomic Energy Commission announced Monday its approval of negotiation of a contract for a heavy water-liquor sodium nuclear power reactor at Anchorage, Alaska.

The AEC said it considered favorably the idea that the plant is to be located in a very high cost power area where nuclear power "could become economically competitive sooner than in lower-cost areas."

SURVEYOR-GENERAL HOME FROM STOCKHOLM

New Russ Aerial Camera Intrigues World Parley

By PETER MURRAY

B.C.'s surveyor-general, G. S. Andrews, is back at work in his map-lined office after a five-week flying trip to Europe for an international meeting attended by 700 delegates from all parts of the world.

He headed a 20-man delegation to the International Congress on Photogrammetry at Stockholm, Sweden.

Mr. Andrews, who has been in charge of the province's huge mapping and survey program since 1951, played an important role in the Congress, held every four years in a world capital.

G. S. ANDREWS

As chairman of a special commission on mapping assigned to Canada at the 1952 Congress at Washington, D.C., he gave a report on its findings.

Of the 50 countries represented in the International Society of Photogrammetry, only seven are picked at each Congress to take over one of the divisions of the science.

The fact that Canada was selected in 1952 was a tribute to the high regard in which the country is held abroad in this field.

Photogrammetry, put briefly, is the science of making maps from aerial photographs. Although practised for a number of years previously, it got its impetus during the last war.

Canada, and particularly B.C., has played a leading role in its development.

LEADING FIELD

"We are right out in front in actual use of aerial photography for mapping," Mr. Andrews said.

The emphasis here is on practical application of theories and equipment, most of which has been developed by scientists elsewhere, although a number of new methods have been devised by engineers in the lands department here.

The forest service is also turning more to aerial mapping, in place of the older, more costly foot-slogging methods.

Foresters are now perfecting a system of identifying tree

WIDE-ANGLE

Delegates to the Stockholm Congress also parleyed that Russian scientists have developed a wide-angle aerial camera lens advanced over those in use in the Western world.

Most aerial cameras have a 90-degree range but the Russian delegation at Stockholm, headed by a woman, reported that a Soviet optical physicist has produced a lens capable of taking in a 140-degree range with virtually no distortion.

Mr. Andrews' trip to the congress was financed jointly by the National Research Council, the B.C. government, and the Canadian Institute of Surveying and Photogrammetry, of which he is a past president.

During his trip, he also took part in a technical tour of Swedish forestry, mining and hydroelectric installations as far north as Lapland.

ELECTRICAL INVENTOR

Yugoslavia's Dr. Nikola Tesla invented the principle of the rotary magnetic field such as is used to produce hydro power.

TRIUMPH FOR PLUMMER

Edinburgh Cheers Stratford Players

EDINBURGH (CP)—The world-famed Edinburgh Festival today hailed Canada's Shakespeare company from Stratford, Ont.

The players from the Ontario Shakespearean festival, first Commonwealth drama group from outside Britain to perform here in the 10 years of the Scottish cultural extravaganza, drew cheers and bravos Tuesday night with their performance of "Henry V."

First reaction in the big London morning papers was favorable, with the critics praising the presentation for its vigor and speed. It was a personal triumph in the title role for Christopher Plummer, the Montreal actor who began carving out a career on Broadway before going back to Canada for the Stratford season.

THREE CURTAIN CALLS
The Stratford company put on their performance in Edinburgh's Church of Scotland Assembly Hall before a sell-out audience including the Princess Royal, representing the Royal Family. The whole company was called back for three curtain calls.

London critics praise the vigor and speed of the production. The Times' critic says the Canadian actors "all sustain an astonishing consistent level of performance."

The Daily Telegraph reviewer says the production was "chiefly remarkable for clear speaking, speed and vitality."

"DIRECT PERFORMANCE"

The Financial Times says this play of Shakespeare's "responds excitingly to the clean, direct performance" of the Stratford company.

"Mr. Christopher Plummer, like a tough young Olivier with iron in his voice, compassed King Henry's megalomaniacal assurance, even his devoutness, with an easy command," the Financial Times' critic adds.

The Daily Mail says the play "was delivered at a crackling pace with an almost sacrilegious disregard for the beauty of Shakespeare's words."

"Nevertheless, this Canadian company is refreshing."

EDINBURGH (CP)—Opening night at the Edinburgh Festival resulted in a highly informal meeting with royalty for one member of Canada's visiting Shakespearean company.

Artistic director Michael Langham escorted the Princess Royal on a tour of the dressing rooms after the performance.

Langham opened one door. Behind it, clad only in shorts, stood Tony Van Bridge, an English graduate of the Royal Academy of Dramatic Art.

The Princess Royal, the Queen's aunt, bowed her head and averted her eyes.

"Oops, sorry," said Langham. "That's the chance we take in the theatre."

Pinza Will Rest For Season

MILAN MARITTIMA, Italy (UP)—Opera singer Edo Pinza only bruised himself when he fell in the bathroom during a heart attack last Friday, X-rays showed today.

For a while it was feared that Pinza suffered a serious hip injury in the fall, but his wife said today it was only "a very severe bruise."

Mrs. Pinza said they plan to leave for Genoa Saturday to return to New York on the liner Independence. Pinza has already announced he will not work this fall because of his heart condition. He said he will rest at his home in Stamford, Conn.

FINE! BUT WILL THEY THROW THEM AT HIM?

WHITE ROCK, B.C. (CP)—Pie making and play directing may seem widely divergent talents, but they will be combined by Franklin Johnson, local actor-director, to help White Rock Players enter the 1957 Dominion Drama Festival. He will undertake a single-handed pie baking marathon Saturday to kick off the club's festival fund campaign. The target is 100 apple pies, but he says he will keep baking until all orders are filled.

Beaver Lake Showboat Has 3 Nights To Run

Three hundred spectators turned out to applaud a talent show on Beaver Lake's showboat Tuesday night.

Winner of the contest was acrobat Alecia Tubman, 14, Oldfield Road; second prize went to Bernice Crowther, 10, 184 Joseph Street, who played trumpet, and third to Norman Henson, 14, 1512 Athlone Drive, accordionist.

Judges were Mrs. Harry Mills, J. W. Dickie and Irving Strickland. Emcee was Andy Anderson, and intermission music was provided by the Jo Ruud trio.

The talent contest will continue tonight at 8 o'clock and finals will be held Thursday night. Finalists will stage a variety show Saturday at 6 p.m.

AT THE ART GALLERY GWLADYS DOWNES

College Collection Full of Surprises

Victoria is always, as the curator of the gallery has so often remarked, full of surprises in the way of interesting private collections of paintings.

The exhibition currently showing has drawn on these, as well as on the Victoria College collection.

The modern English school is well represented by John Harvey, Peter Ibbetson, Robert Colquhoun and Prunella Clough. One can see, particularly in the work of Prunella Clough, how modernist experiments with abstraction can be turned to the use of a private vision which has not in any way lost touch with real objects and real people.

There will probably always be a lyrical tradition in English painting, just as there is in English literature. "The White and the Walk of the Morning," by Peter Ibbetson, illustrating a quotation from Blake, is a forcible reminder that even today imaginative painting can be a valid experience.

It would not, I think, be fanciful to see this same strain of lyricism in the work of the Canadian painter Joe Plaskett, whose gay pastel of a Duncan church is a singing note of welcome color among the rather sombre tones of Bruno Bobak, Jack Shadbolt and Gordon Smith.

Herbert Siebner's "Painting Women" is one of the best canvases I have ever seen this always-competent painter do. It has authority, depth, vitality of composition and color.

There are inspiring and pleasant examples of the Impressionist tradition in this exhibition. But the work which dominates the gallery in which it is hung is the Emily Carr forest scene owned by Victoria College. It is one of her best—lyric, yet controlled, vibrant with exciting color and a passionate apprehension of the beauty she passed her life in attempting to transcribe.

BEARS DON'T TROUBLE HER A JOT It's Our Cougars That Worry City-Tired Alabama Lady

A lady from Birmingham, Alabama, "tired and hot from city living," has selected Victoria environs as the place she would like to live, but one thing is causing her the most bother. She is, apparently, worried about cougars.

"I like to be prepared in every eventuality," wrote Mrs. Carries Je Weaver to the publicity bureau here.

"I'd like," she went on, "to know how to beat cougars in battle."

Mrs. de Weaver said she knows all about battling bears, so they don't trouble her a jot. She also wanted to know the tornado situation here; that is, do we have them, or not, and about electricity.

Kindness itself, commissioner George Warren said regarding cougars and bears that she would "experience no inconvenience. They are content to remain in their wilderness homes."

Tornadoes, he went on, we have not, and electricity in Greater Victoria has proved a real boon in recent years.

BOARDING HOUSE

HE GIVES AWAY GRAND PRIZES

Andy sends a complete, 15-volume set of Compton's Picture Encyclopedia to Glenn Goodhart, aged nine, Philadelphia, Penn., for his question:

How Were the Prehistoric animals named?

There is a rhyme about an ichthyosaurus who lived when the world was all porous. When he first heard his name, he curled up in shame. And died there long ages before us. That cute story cannot be true. Ichthyosaurus was named by modern scientists. He perished long before mankind came to live in the world. What's more, he would not have been ashamed of the name they gave him after studying his fossil bones. It means fish-lizard, which is what he was.

Naturally there was no one around to hand out names while the prehistoric animals were alive. Some waited hundreds of millions of years to be named. Like modern animals, they are classified in tribes, clans and families. Ichthyosaurus was named from the Greek word for fish, plus saurus, the family name of the lizards. His fancy scientific name is the same in French, German and any other language.

Many, though not all, of the dinosaurs have names ending with the lizard family name. Brontosaurus means the thunder lizard. Whether he roared like thunder we do not know. But life-sized models of the huge fellow look as though he might have. Stegosaurus is the baby tank with triangles of armor plating sticking up along his arched back. His name means the roofed dinosaur. Tyrannosaurus is the toothy, meat-eating dinosaur whose name means the tyrant lizard.

Other ancient animals were named for the times in which they lived. Eohippus is the name given to the earliest of horses. Hippus is his family name. Eo is from the Greek word for east and means the dawn. Little Eohippus lived in the Eocene epoch of earth's history, during the dawn of recent or modern animal life.

Some prehistoric animals were named from the places where their fossils were found. The bones of a very early bird were found in Kansas. He was named hesperornis, meaning the western bird. Moeritherium was a remote ancestor of the elephant. He was named for an old lake near which his fossil bones were discovered.

Many of the old timers carry clues to their features in their names. The ancient elephant descended into paleomastodons. Old Big Teeth. His children became mastodons — Big Teeth. Another early bird is named pterodactyl — winged-fingers. His bat-like wings ended in claws.

The sabertoothed tiger has a name we can all understand. He carved up his dinner with his long, curved teeth. Why aren't all the other names in plain simple English? Scientific names are planned to be understood in all languages. That is why they are usually coined from old Greek or Latin words. Look them up one by one in a big unabridged dictionary. You will find those long fancy names usually have very simple meanings.

You will also find a scientific name for old saber tooth. The international name is simodon. It is coined from the Greek word for, of all things, a carving knife!

Andy sends a Hammond International World Globe to Lou Peterman, age nine, of Lancaster, Penn., for her question: — What did Ponce de Leon expect to find?

In his early life, this Spanish gentleman expected to help Columbus explore the western world. He made many small voyages of discovery around the Caribbean. In 1508 he was made governor of Puerto Rico. Ponce de Leon was about 50 years old and still full of the spirit of adventure.

Then an old Indian told him of a magical Fountain of Youth and off he went again on his travels. He expected to find a strange fountain of water. He bathed in it, he was sure that it's magic would turn back the years for him. He would become young again.

Naturally this did not happen. For there is no such thing as a Fountain of Youth. But, in 1513, Ponce de Leon did make a famous discovery. It was spring time and he discovered a land blooming with gorgeous flowers. He named it Florida, the land of flowers.

OUT OUR WAY

my side of the story

A Continuing Series
By THE DUCHESS OF WINDSOR

From now on the question uppermost in David's mind was how he might serve. When he finally got through to Walter Monckton in London that afternoon he said, "I want to offer my services in any capacity my brother deems appropriate, and I must return to England."

Next day Walter telephoned to say guardedly, being mindful of possible eavesdropping by German agents, that he had had promising discussions and would be seeing us presently. He appeared at La Croy three days later, having flown from London in a Government airplane.

From the King he brought word that David and I were to return to London at our earliest convenience, and that David could have the choice of two jobs—either as a member of the British Military Mission attached to the French General Headquarters at Vincennes, or as Regional Commissioner of Wales, a civil defence job that would obviously require our taking up residence in Britain. David was to inform the King of his preference on his arrival in London.

Yet even so simple a matter as David's return in time of war to the service of his country was made difficult by the family cleavage that was to us the most unfortunate consequence of the abdication.

An Invitation

"Fruity" Metcalfe invited us to stay with Baba and him at their home, Hartfield House, which was close enough to London for David to be able to motor back and forth during the day and conduct his business with his brother and government officials.

Arrangements were made for us to proceed as quickly as possible to the Channel coast, there to be picked up by a naval vessel being sent from Britain. There followed an afternoon and night of feverish preparations.

Because of the danger of France's being overrun, I was determined to transport certain valuable possessions, mostly David's, to England for safe storage. To save weight and space I had them wrapped in brown butcher's paper and put into cardboard boxes.

We started north on the afternoon of September 8, David,

"Fruity," and I in our car with our three Cairns and our baggage in a station wagon.

At Cherbourg the admiral commandant of the port was on the lookout for us, but he was obviously demoralized by our unsightly array of baggage.

Unwilling to have his neat drawing room encumbered with my cardboard cartons, he suggested politely that they might better be stored in the garden until the British officer responsible for us put in an appearance. David was supervising the unloading of the two cars when into the garden strode Dickie Mountbatten in the uniform of a captain in the Royal Navy.

In his wake clattered and clanked another martial figure, Randolph Churchill, in the uniform of a lieutenant in the 4th Hussars.

Both were old friends, and the reunion was heart-warming.

The choice of Dickie and Randolph to escort David back to England meant to us that Winston Churchill wanted David's return to go off well and smoothly; and David was grateful, on his account and mine, for this sign of regard.

Dickie had crossed the Channel under cover of darkness the night before in HMS Kelly, the destroyer in which he was present to achieve fame in the fierce fighting off Crete. His orders were to make the return run at night, so as to avoid risk of possible interception by German aircraft or submarine.

David assured Dickie we should be ready to leave just as soon as our "things" had been stowed aboard the Kelly.

"Good," said Dickie. "Where are your things?"

David waved an apologetic hand at the pile on the admiral's lawn—suitcases on one side, the cardboard boxes on the other. For a long instant Dickie's plomb deserted him as his eyes ranged over this unsightly array.

"Do you mean to tell me," he demanded, "that those things are yours?"

I knew enough about naval customs to appreciate how irritating it must have been to a commanding officer's sense of fitness to have his tidy vessel cluttered up with what looked like the odds and ends of a rummage sale.

Moreover, Dickie protested that David was to be piped aboard the Kelly in royal style, and for David to arrive at the gangway with that collection would ruin the effect.

"Well, Dickie," I finally said, "just because we're the first refugees you have seen is no reason for the Royal Navy to turn up its nose at us. These are my clothes and David's things. You can arrange this any way you want—take David out first, and then, when no body's looking, send the launch back for me. But these things go with us," Dickie capitulated. Dusk was falling as the Kelly moved out of the harbor.

Soon we were rushing through the night at high speed, zigzagging to evade any U-boat that might be lying along our course. Dickie asked David if he would like to join him on the bridge. David was delighted.

He was gone some time. When he returned, he was thoughtful and abstracted. It was not hard for me to guess what must have been passing through his mind.

ROYAL PAIR RECONCILED

Queen Juliana and Prince Bernhard of the Netherlands arrived home by plane Tuesday from holiday in Greece. In an announcement issued in The Hague Friday, Juliana and Bernhard said they had solved "difficulties which had arisen." An authoritative source explained that the Queen had ended relations with faith-healer Greet Hofmans, 61, which had caused friction between the royal couple.

Grasshoppers Invade New York State Cities

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Grasshoppers have invaded downtown Albany and Schenectady. They hopped along with pedestrians Tuesday on the main thoroughfares, lighting on noses and arms and leaping blindly against buildings and store windows. Dr. George G. Gyrisco, professor of entomology, said the Albany-Schenectady migration appeared to be "local"—that is, of not more than 50 miles.

MINEOLA, N.Y. (AP)—A lawyer for Angelo John Lamacra, the 31-year-old mechanic charged with kidnapping little Peter Weinberger, says his client will plead temporary insanity "caused by his desperation over debts."

The lawyer, David Markowitz, held a press conference in New York City Tuesday.

"The only defence I know of at the moment is temporary insanity," he said. "We believe that he was unable to distinguish right from wrong."

Meanwhile, Peter's mother, Mrs. Betty Weinberger, identified scraps of clothing found with the dead baby's remains.

Police said the mother had positively identified the clothing as that which the 32-day-old Peter was wearing July 4 when he was snatched from his carriage in the Weinbergers' Westbury, Long Island, home.

Mrs. Weinberger was due to appear before a grand jury here today. The jury will be asked to indict Lamacra on kidnapping and first-degree murder charges.

Record Crowd Expected At Saanich Celebration

Volunteer Workers Push Preparation For 50th Birthday of Municipality

Saanich municipal employees Tuesday rolled up their sleeves and began clearing the underbrush and readying the grounds at Beaver Lake for a record 15,000 people expected to attend the municipality's 50th birthday celebrations.

Fifty volunteer workers, including heads of departments, clerks, policemen, firemen and municipal yard employees, have already made vast improvements to the lake site for the big birthday party.

BEACH EXTENDED

They have installed concrete picnic tables, constructed new roads, cleared more parking spaces for cars and spread 600 yards of new sand to extend and improve the beach. They have improved the lighting system, constructed a black-top strip for sports and made a new diving float.

The park will be closed to the public Friday night to permit employees to install a grandstand and other facilities for the party.

Official opening will be at 2 p.m. Saturday when Reeve Arthur Ash will introduce Works Minister W. N. Chant, who will represent Premier W. A. C. Bennett.

The actual start of the day's celebrations will be at 9:30 a.m. when 68 swimmers will take part in a two-mile swim, starting at Happyland and ending at Beaver Lake concession hall. The swim will last about an hour.

MARATHONERS PRESENT

Bill Muir, who came second in the marathon Strait race Sunday, will present the municipal trophy to the winner of the Elk-Beaver Lakes swim.

Saanich swimmer Ben Laughren, who won the marathon, will also be honored on the occasion. He will be presented with a special plaque, to commemorate his Port Angeles to Church Point strait swim. Honored guests at the celebrations will be some 70 pioneers who settled in Saanich when the municipality was still mainly a vast forest area. Special transportation will be provided for the pioneers.

The musicians' union will also provide, free of charge, two orchestras for modern and folk dancing, as well as a 20-piece band for a band concert in the afternoon.

Throughout the day there will be sports. Council members will operate most of the refreshment concessions. Over 1,200 ice cream bars will also be given to children who will be treated to pony "rides" donated by T. Eaton Co.

Kemano Man Wins Fist Fight With Bear

KEMANO, B.C. (CP) — Gordon Cameron said he awoke Sunday morning to find his kitchen being raided by a large black bear. He tried to appease the bear with a drink of fruit juice. Bruin drank the liquid, then eyed Cameron who leaped towards the door. However, he didn't leap fast enough and stopped a right hook to the face from the bear. Cameron picked himself up and smashed his unwelcome visitor on the nose. The bear howled in surprise and fled from the house.

Egypt Spy Charges Stir New Crisis

(BUP and CP Dispatches)
Former Lands and Forests Minister Robert E. Sommers said the rejection of contempt action against two Vancouver newspapers and Conservative leader Deane Finlayson would mean the opposition now would use the Sturdy slander case imputations in their campaign against him.

Mr. Sommers said "certainly I'm still a candidate," when asked if the decision would affect his plans. He said "time will tell" if the outcome of the case will affect his chances politically. He was re-nominated last week in the Rossland-Trail riding.

At Vancouver, Mr. Finlayson said: "The verdict of the court has rendered impotent the massive propaganda machine of the Bennett regime and sluiced away its boasts, threats and intimidation. . . . This verdict also upholds the right of free speech and proves again the inherent vitality in Canadian democracy."

Art Laing, B.C. Liberal leader said "I am delighted with the decision."

"This was no general protection for either politicians or newspapers—but had a decision other than this been reached it would have meant that politicians could use the courts in a manner which held the law in contempt."

George Gregory, counsel for lawyer David Sturdy in the Sommers-Sturdy suit, and Liberal nominee for re-election in Victoria, said:

"I am delighted to know that freedom of speech has been restored in this great land of ours."

Alabama Anti-Negro Voters Ready To Give Parks Away

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP)—Alabama voters have approved a constitutional amendment to keep Negroes and Whites in separate schools even at the cost of abolishing the public educational system.

The measure allows the state legislature to end public educational facilities and give public funds to private schools.

This measure, and a similar amendment covering public park facilities which also apparently passed, are designed to provide a bypass of the U.S. Supreme Court's decisions outlawing segregation in schools and recreational facilities.

Counties with heavy Negro populations went overwhelmingly for the two racial mea-

VANCOUVER (CP)—Applications to commit the leader of the Progressive Conservative party in British Columbia, the Vancouver Sun and the Vancouver Herald on contempt citations were rejected Tuesday in the B.C. Supreme Court.

Mr. Justice J. O. Wilson, delivering judgment three hours after conclusion of the speedy 1½-day hearing, ordered the plaintiff, former lands minister R. E. Sommers, to pay all costs of the action.

There was no evidence, he said, to suggest that any of the respondents intended to taint the source of justice or to prejudice a fair trial of Mr. Sommers' slander action against Vancouver lawyer David Sturdy.

He said the fact that Mr. Sommers made himself a candidate in the Sept. 19 provincial election "makes inevitable some exploration of his record as a (legislature) member and as a minister."

The contempt actions were brought by Alfred Bull, counsel for the former lands minister, following a political speech which Deane B.C. Progressive Conservative leader, Finlayson, made in North Vancouver last Monday and which was reported by the two newspapers.

In his address the Progressive Conservative leader read portions of the amended statement of defence, which Mr. Sturdy filed against a slander suit launched by Mr. Sommers for statements the barrister made here before a royal commission on forestry last December.

Mr. Sturdy charged that Mr. Sommers was guilty of corruption in the discharge of his duties, and his statement of defence gave details of the charges.

The minister resigned from the cabinet Feb. 27 but retained his seat as Social Credit MLA for Rossland-Trail.

WORD OF WARNING
Mr. Justice Wilson couched his dismissal of the contempt applications with what he termed "a word of warning." He said in reading the verdict that Senator J. W. deB. Farris, counsel for the Vancouver Herald, had suggested that actions of the plaintiff put the whole issue of allegations against him into the public domain, "so that henceforth these charges might be freely or 'publicly' discussed."

This may or may not be so, Mr. Justice Wilson said, "but certainly I make no such ruling." He continued:

"I am only concerned with the facts in this case. I only say that what has been done here is not contempt of court under the circumstances."

Decision Hailed by Diefenbaker
The Supreme Court decision in the Sturdy-Sommers contempt action was described here today by John Diefenbaker as a "momentous landmark in the continued fight for preservation of freedom under the parliamentary system."

"An abiding principle was at stake," Mr. Diefenbaker said, "that the wells of public information should not be dried up by a private action through the courts of a man in public life."

Mr. Diefenbaker, prominent Progressive-Conservative who was defence counsel for B.C. party leader Deane Finlayson in the court action, was the overnight guest of Maj.-Gen. G. R. Pearkes in Victoria.

He had intended spending a brief holiday on the west coast but left this morning for his home in Prince Albert, Sask. He will take no part in the B.C. election campaign.

Regarding the contempt decision Mr. Diefenbaker said:

THE EGGS AND (CLUCK) I

Favored contender in egg-laying contest leading up to opening of Saanichton fair Saturday is J. Armstrong's hen Hortense, who is keeping mind on her work, eye on calendar, and eggs in nest. To presstime 45 hens entered had 67 egg total to cluck about. All competitors said they felt like a million, but this total is unlikely.—(Eggs by Hortense, photo by Bill Halkett.)

Race Season Cut 2 Weeks; Sandown Out

Horse-racing season in B.C. is scheduled to end two weeks earlier than originally planned, following the disclosure today by the B.C. Horsemen's Benevolent and Protective Association that it will not accept the Sandown Park purse scale offered by the Ascot Jockey Club.

The meet at the Sidney track, originally scheduled for Sept. 15, has been called off following a final meeting Tuesday between the track association and the horsemen's negotiation committee.

According to HBPA secretary Stan Hoskins, the racing dates will not be switched to a Vancouver track, as has been rumored.

Mr. Hoskins told the Times today that the horsemen definitely would not run at Sandown for the minimum $500 purse offered by the track owners.

"The horsemen wouldn't even break even for those kind of purses," he said. "There is no possibility of the dates being switched either. There just won't be any racing, that's all."

Mr. Hoskins said that the track owners "would not budge a nickel" from their original $500 offer made two weeks ago, and the horsemen's negotiating committee could do nothing else but turn it down at Tuesday's meeting.

HI-JINKS ON INAUGURAL RUN
Early Morning Lynching Mob Greets PGE-Riding Varmints

WILLIAMS LAKE—Premier Bennett and his trainload of dignitaries aboard the PGE inaugural run were the "victims" today of a mock, old-west robbery and lynching.

The horseplay started two miles outside this Cariboo centre when a posse of gun-toting cowboys blocked the right-of-way.

Mr. Bennett, Railways Minister Chetwynd and PGE potentate Einar Gunderson were ordered to alight.

The trio was hustled into a horse-drawn, red-painted stage-coach by the "gunmen" and whisked into town over a bumpy trail.

More gaily-dressed cowboys and a rough-hewn gallows with three nooses awaited them.

Mr. Bennett, Mr. Chetwynd and Mr. Gunderson were mounted on the gallows and the three ropes were placed around their necks.

U.K. Cracks Down On Cyprus Bishop

NICOSIA, Cyprus (AP)—Britain cracked down today on the leader of the Greek Orthodox Church in Cyprus, ordering the Bishop of Kitium restricted to his official residence at Larnaca on the east coast.

He is head of the Greek Orthodox Church on Cyprus in the absence of the exiled Archbishop Makarios.

Documents which the British said were captured by the EOKA underground contained congratulations from the bishop to Digenis, EOKA leader.

Britain has charged that the documents—including diaries kept by Digenis—contain evidence that Makarios himself directed EOKA violence. Digenis is identified by the British as George Grivas, a former colonel in the Greek army.

Sir John Harding, British military governor, issued a statement saying action was taken against the bishop "in view of the clear evidence contained in the Grivas diaries" that the bishop also aided EOKA by providing funds for purchase of arms.

EOKA vows of new violence were underscored by bomb blasts following a truce period proclaimed by EOKA.

Two bombs exploded harmlessly Tuesday night and early this morning outside the homes of a British army sergeant and a British major in Larnaca and Nicosia.

The explosions shattered the island's uneasy calm which had prevailed during a "suspension of operations" proclaimed by EOKA, the underground fighting arm of the Greek Cypriot movement demanding union with Greece.

The commodities will come from the Commodity Credit Corp. stocks which were built up in price support operations. The cost to the CCC was estimated at $652.3 million.

It provides for purchase by India of $200 million worth, or about 130 million bushels, of wheat; $70 million, or 500,000 bales, of cotton.

U.S. Surplus Sale to India Sets Record
WASHINGTON (UP)—The agriculture department today announced an agreement to sell India $360.1 million worth of surplus U.S. farm products.

The sale will be financed by the United States. It is the largest trade agreement ever negotiated for U.S. surplus commodities.

India will pay for the commodities in rupees. The Indian currency will be spent for expansion of U.S. agricultural markets in India, Indian economic development, and other purposes beneficial to both countries.

The department said part of the funds will be made available to India as a grant for economic development.

The commodities will come from the Commodity Credit Corp. stocks which were built up in price support operations.

Cairo Papers Claim Britons Plotted To Oust Nasser

CAIRO (AP)—Cairo newspapers charged today that a British-directed spy ring had plotted to overthrow the Nasser regime with a coup d'etat similar to that which ousted Mohammed Mossadegh in Iran in 1953.

The Egyptians appeared to be setting the stage for a sensational international spy trial.

All Cairo papers carried a report that James Swinburn, the British ambassador, had confessed his group was plotting a coup d'etat. Since the report was carried in all papers, it appeared to have official sanction.

Ever since Nasser nationalized the Suez Canal, there has been a tendency here to compare Egypt today with Iran after Mossadegh nationalized the Anglo-Iranian Oil Company.

Egyptians generally believe the Western embassies in Tehran set up the coup d'etat of General Fazlollah Zahedi in overthrowing Mossadegh and paving the way for an Anglo-Iranian settlement.

THIRD BRITON ARRESTED
Egypt put another British subject behind bars today in the wake of her official charges that two British embassy secretaries were involved in a spy ring.

The British embassy said James Zarb, a British resident of Egypt, was placed under arrest. The embassy said it does not know whether his case is connected with the espionage investigation, which the Egyptians say is implicating a growing number of foreigners.

The Egyptians already are holding Swinburn, business manager for the British-owned Arab News Agency, and Charles Pittuck, an official of the Marconi Radio-Telegraph Co.

Four Egyptians have been officially named as their accomplices, and Cairo newspapers reported today that four more Egyptians—had been seized as a result of an alleged confession by Swinburn.

ORDERED OUT
The Egyptians have given the two embassy secretaries, J. B. Flux and J. G. Gove, 72 hours to leave the country.

In London the foreign office denied Egyptian charges the two relayed orders to an alleged spy ring, but ordered Gove and Flux home under protest.

TO SEE SICK MOTHER
12,000-Mile Trip For Stowaways

DURBAN, South Africa (AP)—Five freckled stowaways turned up here Tuesday, bent on making a 12,000-mile ocean voyage to visit their sick mother in Holland.

They are the Zandvliet children, Paulina, 6, Robert, 5, Gerard, 9, and Adriane, 12. In charge of the operation was Anna, 21.

The 20,000-ton liner Orontes was just out of Fremantle, western Australia, when they appeared. One after another five freckled faces popped out from behind the superstructures on the ship's games deck. They formed up in line, tall Anna in the lead, little Paulina bringing up the rear, and trooped off to the captain's cabin.

Anna told their story to a surprised ship's master, Commander W. B. Thompson.

"These are my brothers and sisters," she said. "We emigrated with our parents to Australia just over two years ago. It was nice there and we thought we were going to start life again. Then my mother was taken ill."

The mother had to be sent back to Holland. Then the father was taken ill, Anna said, and it looked like the family would have to seek public assistance. That's when they stowed away. Come on under Thompson sent off a cable to their mother to tell them her children are on their way home.

"The children have been as good as gold," he said. "We will drop them off at London, where the Dutch consul will help them. They are all minors and cannot be prosecuted. We don't intend taking action against Anna if we can help it."

PRAYER FOR TODAY
HEAVENLY FATHER, make it our daily concern to walk humbly with Thee. We know how easy it is to fall into mistakes and sins. Forgive us. Keep us near to Thee, constantly seeking Thy counsel and correction. Lead us to the open gate of grace for Thy name's sake; through Christ, Amen.

AS PGE SPECIAL ROLLS ON

Chetwynd Orders 'Sabotage' Probe

By NORMAN CIBBENS
Times Political Reporter

ABOARD THE PGE INAUGURAL TRAIN—Premier Bennett's "Election Special" rolled northward through a festive Cariboo today with an admission by Railways Minister Ralph Chetwynd that he may have cried "wolf" too soon about sabotage in Monday's ill-timed landslide.

Mr. Chetwynd conceded that a long piece of detonating wire, discovered hanging from the top of a cliff which collapsed near Horseshoe Bay was the only clue pointing to possible sabotage.

Nevertheless, the minister said he had ordered B.C. inspector of railways R. W. Swanson to investigate whether the rock slide was a "natural fall" or man-made plot.

Mr. Swanson said the investigation will start when he returns to Vancouver later this week.

The 20-hour delay caused by the slide has failed to dampen the enthusiasm of whistle-stop towns along the railroad which have turned out en masse to greet the train.

At every stop, the premier has a special word for "my old friend Harry Perry," former Liberal education minister, and "my Conservative friend Herbert Anscomb, always a loyal supporter of this railroad."

Scenes of wild-west horse-play broke out in such centres as Williams Lake, Pemberton and Lillooet as citizens whooped it up.

A make-believe holdup by masked, "bandits" greeted the premier and his party at Williams Lake.

And Premier Bennett continues to squeeze the last ounce of glamour out of Monday's landslide.

"Never was so much rock moved so cheaply in such good time as last night," he told the people of Lillooet.

Mr. Bennett drew cheers with this paraphrase at the little agricultural settlement of Pemberton and earlier at Squamish he had the populace waving flags in salute to:

Convicted Man, Tried 3 Times, Will Go Free

REGINA (CP)—Jacob A. Dyck, 46-year-old laborer, likely will be freed in about two weeks after six months' custody in which he was tried three times for murder and was saved from the gallows by an Appeal Court order. The first two juries failed to agree.

Charged with murder in a bludgeoning slaying of Mike Todor, 74, Dyck was convicted on his third trial and sentenced to be hanged.

An appeal court wiped out the verdict and granted the defence request for a new trial.

A stay of proceedings was filed here last week by R. M. Barr, Q.C. crown prosecutor.

Mr. Swanson said the Crown does not intend to pursue the case further.

YOUBOU—Forty tiny swimmers, all of less than three years of age, stole the show at the annual regatta here Sunday from the professional swimmers, divers, water skiers and water ballet.

Instructed by Mrs. Marilyn Jackson, the tots splashed into the water, and even those that could scarcely walk had their share of fun in swimming about. Their training was a part of a program of water safety among children of the community.

circumstances that here exist. I do not say that other and different actions, under these or other circumstances, may not constitute contempt."

He had read Mr. Finlayson's complete speech and found that his attack was not on the plaintiff but on Premier Bennett for calling an election "before the serious charges made against a former member of his government had been aired in the courts."

The Vancouver Herald had printed verbatim the charges and Mr. Finlayson's warning to his listeners not to judge them. The Vancouver Sun had published a paraphrase of the charges coupled with a fair report of Mr. Finlayson's warning.

Every allegation in the plea of justification read by Mr. Finlayson and printed by the newspapers had already been brought to public notice by publication in the press March 2 and June 23, Mr. Justice Wilson held.

"The prospective jurors who may try the case of Sommers vs. Sturdy were not told by Mr. Finlayson anything new, anything that had not already been lawfully published in proceedings in court and in the legislature."

WHITEWASH AND TAR

Mr. Sommers had not only denied the charges made against him, he had alleged that those charges were part of a plot or conspiracy to which he "must mean" Mr. Sturdy was a party.

"He has further, still within the armor of legislative immunity, said that the chief witness to be called against him is a criminal, an extortionist."

"He has voiced a thinly veiled threat to have that witness arrested if he returns to British Columbia. He has wielded both the whitewash brush and the tar brush and it becomes him to complain of the bare recital by the respondents here of a set of charges already known to the public."

Named in the contempt applications were Mr. Finlayson; the Vancouver Herald and its publisher Gerald Brown; and the Vancouver Sun, its publisher Donald Cromie and reporter Frank Walden.

(The Victoria Times carried a full report of Mr. Finlayson's speech in North Vancouver. No action was launched against the Times.)

John Diefenbaker, Progressive Conservative MP for the Saskatchewan riding of Prince Albert, was counsel for Mr. Finlayson. Senator Farris represented the Herald and Douglas McKenzie Brown the Sun.

Mr. Diefenbaker argued that Mr. Finlayson "performed a public duty" by his North Vancouver speech, undeterred "by what, in effect, was a threat against free speech during an election campaign."

OPENS TYRANNY DOOR

He contended that granting of Mr. Sommers' application for a writ of contempt would create a "dangerous precedent." It would close the door to public discussion of public affairs, and would "open the door to tyranny."

"What is the reason inherent in this proceedings?" the Prince Albert MP asked. "What happened to Mr. Sommers? He made his statement in the legislature, he tried the case in advance with himself adopting the cloak of righteousness, with his opponents pictured as detectives and dissemblers."

Mr. Diefenbaker said that Mr. Sommers finally took the contempt proceedings after the question had become a matter of public significance and importance, saying that he had said his piece and intended to close the lips of public criticism.

"I submit the issue is so serious that if this can be done you thereby deprive public opinion from receiving the benefits of public discussion when there is any suggestion of dereliction of duty and simply issue a writ thereby drying up the wells of public information," Mr. Diefenbaker concluded.

In centre, his speed afoot gets him to the bag even though Kansas City first sacker Vic Power had the ball in time to make the tag. By the way, he can hit a little, too.

Bucs Pennant Block On Milwaukee Road?

IT'S MY VIEW
BY Bill Walker

The Victoria Shamrocks are out of organized lacrosse at the moment.

And, although it's likely they'll be back in the future, there should be no dispute with the decision that put the Mann Cup champions on the sidelines.

The Intercity Lacrosse League Commission acted in the only way possible when they gave the Irish the heave-ho from the semifinal playdowns against Vancouver Pilseners.

The Irish, as everyone should know by now, walked off the floor in the third quarter of their game with Pilseners last Friday in Vancouver and refused to return. The complaint was against the refereeing.

The commission had no alternative but to forfeit the series to the Pils.

The Rocks, in return, said it was an "emotional" outburst which prompted their refusal to continue and appealed the decision of the series forfeiture.

The futility of the Shamrock appeal should have been rather obvious.

There Was Nothing to Appeal

In this book, the Irish are at fault and haven't a leg to stand on.

For certainly no team, amateur or pro, junior or senior, champion or also-ran, can walk off the floor or a field during a game and then expect to be invited back into the good graces of the league or organization the next day.

Think what would have happened if the B.C. Lions had refused to play the second half of their game with Edmonton Monday night as they found themselves trailing 11-0 at the half? The Irish position is compounded because they were trailing at the time of their walkout.

Some might say that the Rocks had a point—poor refereeing—but wouldn't it have been much wiser for the Irish to have continued, and played the remainder of the game in question under protest. Then a decision on the play in question which prompted the walkout could have been made. The commission this year previously reversed a referees' ruling in New Westminster; and if the Rocks had sufficient grounds for protest, were certain they would have received a fair hearing.

But when they walked off and refused to return, they sealed their own fate; and frankly, much as we have admired the Irish for their triumphant march to the Mann Cup finals last year, and their gritty showing through the years, we also admire the stand the commission took in forfeiting the series to the Pilseners. They put the sport before one team.

An Apology Needed—to the Fans

As matters now stand the Rocks are no longer a member club of the Intercity League; at least that is our understanding from Carl Grauer, Intercity League president. And doubtless before the matter comes to a head again, the Rocks need to apply for re-entry, again according to Grauer, other penalties may be assessed against the Irish.

Certainly some measure of protection (heaven forbid) of the Shamrock walk-out will have to be adopted against a possible recurrence (heaven forbid) of the Shamrock walk-out.

For what kind of a league would it be if teams started walking out pell-mell through the season because they didn't like the refereeing or other decisions?

The Rocks, in our book, made a grave mistake, and their action was hardly fair to the fans, particularly those who paid to see the game in Vancouver (and got their money back), but more especially to the Victoria fans, who have supported them well, much better than in other centres, through their years in the Intercity League.

And the Irish should be quick to apologize and make amends for their action.

That is the least they can do, but that is what they must do before all that has gone before is lost.

There is no other alternative, as the Shamrocks can not be excused.

Lions Declare Imports; Clinkscale Released

VANCOUVER (CP)—British Columbia Lions of the Western Interprovincial Football Union Tuesday announced the 12 imports they will keep for the 1956 season.

Coach Clem Crowe also announced release of two players and named two he will keep in reserve.

Cut were tackle George Mrkonjic, who had played with University of Kansas and the Philadelphia Eagles, and halfback Ron Clinksdale, trying for a second year with the club, who played his college ball at Texas Christian.

In reserve are veteran tackle Chuck Quilter, who played with Edmonton Eskimos before joining the Lions last year and halfback Primo Villanueva who joined the WIFU club last year from UCLA.

The 12 imports named by coach Clem Crowe for retention as regulars are:

End, Ronnie Lough, UCLA; tackle, Norm Masters, Michigan State; end, Dan Edwards, University of Georgia and New York Yankees; quarterback, Paul Cameron, who played for UCLA and Pittsburgh Steelers and is just out of the service; halfback, Ed Verbe, Maryland; fullback, Ray Bailey, Washington State and Green Bay Packers; halfback, Doug Peters, UCLA; tackle, Tom Gunnar, Washington State; guard, John Jankus, Arizona State; centre, Steve Palmer, UCLA; quarterback, Tony Teresa, San Jose State, and fullback, Al Pollard, a Lions veteran, who previously played with Philadelphia Eagles.

Angels Stretch PCL Lead

First place Los Angeles stretched its already hefty Pacific Coast League lead to 15½ games Tuesday night. The Angels dropped Portland, 4-2, while the second place Seattle Suds were losing to Vancouver, 7-6 in 12 innings.

Sacramento moved to within half a game of the first division by thumping Hollywood, 2-0 and 3-2. San Diego dumped San Francisco, 3-2.

Hollywood manager Clay Hopper fined and suspended star outfielder Carlos Bernier for insubordination after a heated argument under the stands as the Puerto Rican outfielder was benched in the seventh inning of the second game supposedly because of an injured thumb.

Bernier has been thrown out of two PCL games this year. Last winter he was fined $100 in the Puerto Rican League for fighting with Vic Power of Kansas City. In 1954, he slapped umpire Chris Valenti at Hollywood and was suspended for the rest of the season.

Seattle lost on a squeeze bunt by Charles Beamon after Jim Pisoni and Jim Westlake singled and Len Heal walked to fill the bases.

Stop Braves Again; Dodgers Gain Ground

Are Dale Long and the rest of Pittsburgh's short-lived heroes to become Milwaukee's pennant-block, just as the Pirates were to Brooklyn in 1954?

Brooklyn had edged to within a half game of first place in '54 and looked good and healthy with 10 games remaining against Pittsburgh in the last month and a half of the season. But the last place Pirates, who had lost 10 of their first 12 games with the Brooks, won five of those last 10, standing the Dodgers on end while the New York Giants copied the flag and the world championship.

The Pirates, who lost 12 of their first 18 games with Milwaukee this season, looked like the spoilers of old Tuesday night, coming from behind as Long hit a three-run homer to beat the Braves 5-4 and trim their National League lead to 1½ games over the Dodgers.

And except for the fact Brooklyn was playing a doubleheader in the only major league park without lights, the Dodgers might have been only a half game shy of the Braves today. The Brooks split the twin bill with Chicago's Cubs, winning the opener 6-4 on three ninth-inning runs, but losing the nightcap 4-3 when play was halted after 7½ innings by darkness.

Third place Cincinnati rose to just three games off the pace with an 11-1 barrage against the Giants. Philadelphia clipped St. Louis 6-4.

MANTLE WHACKS 45th

In the American League, Mickey Mantle belted his 45th home run in New York's 4-0 victory over Kansas City in a game held to six innings by rain. The Yankees regained an eight game first place bulge as Cleveland lost by thumping Baltimore, 5-3. Detroit defeated Boston 6-3. Long's poke triggered a four-run seventh that tied the score for the Bucs after Warren Spahn, seeking his 199th major league victory, had retired two men in the frame. Five straight hits set things up for the Pirates against the veteran southpaw, Dick Groat's infield single scored the clincher against rookie Bob Trowbridge in the eighth.

Elroy Face won it in relief of Dick Hall, who was tagged for Ed Mathews' 31st and 32nd home runs.

Babe Still Smiles, But Condition Serious

GALVESTON, Tex. (UP)—Famed woman athlete Babe Didrikson still smiles in her battle with cancer but doctors said her serious condition "remains unchanged."

John Sealy Hospital reported in its once-daily medical bulletin Thursday that the frail, once-husky Babe continues to "laugh and joke with her doctors, nurses and family," and that her temperature, pulse and respiration are "normal." "She is very comfortable and her morale is excellent," the bulletin said.

Her condition slowly has grown more serious since July 13 when the first of two operations were performed to relieve pain and complications from the malignancy. She has been in the hospital since last March 25 and has wasted away to less than 100 pounds.

Rout Pilseners in Opener Of Seven-Game Final

Nanaimo 14, Pilseners 7

NANAIMO (Special)—Nanaimo's explosive Timbermen erupted early and often here Tuesday night to grab a one-game lead in the best-of-seven Intercity Lacrosse League final via a 14-7 rout of the Vancouver Pilseners.

Shifty Bob Raffle ignited the fuse with two quick goals early in the first period.

Bobby Allan and playing coach Harry Wipperf followed with goals of their own to give the T-men a 4-0 lead at the end of the quarter.

The winners split six goals with Vancouver in the second quarter to lead, 7-3, and took an 11-5 lead into the final period.

Don Sherry, who didn't score until the third period, rammed three in a row past Vancouver goalie Stan Joseph and was followed by Arnie Dugan as the T-men put the game on ice with four goals while Pils' Bobby Marsh was sitting out a five-minute penalty.

Marsh was penalized for slashing Lisle Scott on the head and drawing blood.

In all, Timbermen scored six goals while Vancouver was short-handed, while the Pils scored twice on Nanaimo netminder Freddy Fulla while having the man advantage.

Referees Sid Greenwood and Eric Dickenson whistled 15 minutes of penalties in the relatively clean game.

Sherry, Wipperf and Raffle led the Timbermen attack with three goals each, while league scoring champion Allan added two assists to his two goals.

For the Pilseners, Skip McKay, picking the corners from well out, scored three goals.

Second game of the series will be in Vancouver's Kerrisdale Arena Thursday night, with the third game back in Nanaimo Saturday.

Coast Soccer Postponed; United Travel

Friday's Pacific Coast Soccer game between Victoria United and Vancouver Halecos has been postponed.

United will travel to Vancouver Thursday to meet St. Andrews in a Dominion Cup semifinal contest.

Postponed match will be made up Sept. 8 at Royal Athletic Park.

United will hold a workout tonight at Athletic Park at 7.30.

Argos Meet Cats, Expect Big Crowd

TORONTO (CP)—With the attraction of powerful new floodlights, Ronnie Knox and the return of Al Pfeiffer and Billy Shipp, Toronto Argonauts expect a football record crowd for their home-opener against Hamilton Tiger-Cats tonight.

Argos lost 24-20 in their first Big Four union start Saturday against Montreal Alouettes, but they were playing without ace quarterback Tom Dubinski and Al Pfeiffer and tackle Shipp.

The new lights, most powerful in Canada, will make their football debut. They provide 70 feet-candlepower of illumination, as opposed to a top 45 feet-candlepower for other Canadian stadiums.

Under the new lights spectators will see quarterbacks Gerry Doucette of Argos and Knox of Ticats. Both were on the spot last week.

Knox played his first Canadian game Wednesday after one of the most powerful build-ups in Big Four history. Although Hamilton lost 29-21 to Ottawa, Knox turned in a brilliant display.

LONGDEN EIGHT SHORT OF RICHARDS' MARK

DEL MAR, Calif. (UP)—Johnny Longden was just eight victories away today from equalling the all-time riding record after capturing two more races at Del Mar race track.

The twin victories Tuesday moved Longden into easy striking distance of Sir Gordon Richards' mark of 4,870 victories. The veteran Longden has booted home double winners for the last four days and at this present pace he should equal the record by Saturday.

TRAIL IN B.C. FINAL

Junior Rocks Go Four Down

Victoria's Junior Shamrocks will go into the second game of their two-game, total-point provincial final with Mount Pleasant Indians with a four-goal deficit as a result of Tuesday's first game at Memorial arena.

Mount Pleasant took advantage of lagging Victoria play in the first and fourth quarters to score a 14-10 victory over the Junior Rocks.

Indians got the jump on Victoria in the early stages of the first period as they rattled in five straight goals before Rocks found the range.

Scores at the end of the quarters were 6-2, 7-4 and 9-6.

Indians seemed to revive once more going into the fourth period just as the Shamrocks started lagging, and the result was another five straight Mount Pleasant tallies.

Junior Rocks fought back, however, from the 14-6 deficit to finish the game in fine style with four straight markers.

In the preliminaries, Norburn Legion bounced Butler Brothers, 12-5, to retain the provincial bantam title, while Saanich peewees downed a pee wee all-star team, 10-5.

Final game for the Junior Rocks is tentatively scheduled for next Wednesday, in Vancouver's Kerrisdale Arena.

Butlers Bounced

In the preliminaries, Norburn Legion bounced Butler Brothers, 12-5, to retain the provincial bantam title, while Saanich peewees downed a pee wee all-star team, 10-5.

Final game for the Junior Rocks is tentatively scheduled for next Wednesday, in Vancouver's Kerrisdale Arena.

Copp Advances In PNW Junior Golf

Medalist Jerry Cundari of Portland was tumbling early, taking a one-up defeat at the hands of Jerry Smythe of Lake Grove, Ore.

50 Anglers Compete In Cowichan Derby

Twelve Victorians will be among the 50 anglers who comb the waters of Cowichan Bay Sunday for prizes in the Cowichan Bay Salmon Club's ladder derby fishoff.

Heading the list of local anglers will be Sam Lane, whose 37-pound, 8-ounce fish, caught in the third qualifying week, held on to give him the top rung in the final master ladder.

Sunday's fishoff starts at 5 a.m. and winds up at 8 p.m. All fish caught must be weighed in at the Government Wharf before 8 p.m.

Final ladder list and weekly trophy winners follow:

1. Sam Lane, Victoria, 27.8
2. Don Jenkins, Salt Spring, 27.8
3. Les Moth, Cowichan Bay, 27.8
4. V. Palmer, Lake Cowichan, 27.8
5. Joe Hancock, Lake Cowichan, 27.8
6. N. Johnston, Mill Bay, 27.8
7. D. Taylor, Duncan, 27.8
8. Hugh Reid, Kootenay, 27.8
9. Gordon Leach, Seattle, 27.8
10. D. James, Victoria, 27.8
11. J. Kinsley, Duncan, 27.8
12. Hugh Wilson, Duncan, 27.8
13. Gordon Lamont, Victoria, 27.8

BETWEEN TIMES By MONTE ROBERTS

I am continually amazed by today's merchandizing system.

Under today's merchandizing system, I cannot understand how anything gets bought or anything gets sold.

It is not the problems of production which bother me, nor does the cost of living index in relation to purchasing power affect me in the least.

What I cannot understand is, how does anything get purchased when there is so much from which to choose? Nearly every advertisement in the public prints contains the phrase, "your choice of . . ." or "a wide variety from which to choose."

Automobile manufacturers, for instance, offer a "complete range of models from which to choose." The average automobile manufacturer has convertibles, two doors, four doors, outdoors, indoors, hardtops, flat-tops, station wagons, estate wagons, and, for all I know, flat waggins.

Not content with empty-nine categories of car, each category comes in a "complete variety of colors from which to choose." And not just simple, single, colors, either, but weird and wonderful two-tone, three-tone, three-and-a-half-tone, and quintuple-tone combinations.

Faced with such a bewildering variety, how can the poor consumer make his choice?

I am told by reliable sources that automobiles are being sold, but I don't know how. The poor, bewildered consumer probably puts on a blindfold, spins around three times, and uses the pin-the-tail-on-the-donkey technique.

The same problem arises in the field of furniture merchandising.

Here are offered various furniture groupings—bedroom groups, kitchen groups, living room groups.

But the trouble is, these furniture groups all give you "your choice of" various combinations.

You are offered an end table or a coffee table or a small table or a tall table, and how can you make up your mind?

I have known women who have haunted furniture stores days on end, trying to decide between the antimacassar and the beaded motto "Bless Our Home" which were alternates in the $89.95 grouping.

There are many more examples in the field of merchandising from which to choose—cosmetics, silverware, china, nylon stockings—but I must confess I can't make up my mind which example to choose.

All I can say is, there is too much freedom of choice these days.

TOPICS OF THE TIMES

Victoria Duplicate Bridge Club winners of the weekly Tuesday session at the Business and Professional Women's Club follow:

North-South—Ethel Cleworth and Jack Goldie; Tony Marsh and Frank Artlett; Jim Duprau and Eric Goodwin; Elizabeth Warren and Dora Duprau.

East-West—Madge Meacham and Ann Kocutyn; Laura Tingley and Les Stewart; tied were Sam Duprau and Les Stewart, Fred Hallett and Ernie Allen.

Regular semi-annual west coast meeting of the technical section, Canadian Ship Building and Ship Repair Association, will be held in Vancouver and Victoria commencing Tuesday.

The meeting will open with a dinner in Vancouver and a tour of Burrard Drydock Tuesday, then move to Victoria for sessions Wednesday.

A luncheon in the Union Club will be tendered by Victoria Machinery Dept Ltd. and Yarrows Ltd. executives, and a tour of the two shipyards will follow.

Annual meeting of the Victoria Chamber of Commerce will be held at noon, Friday, Sept. 24, in the Empress Hotel. Guest speaker will be Britain's minister of state for overseas trade, Rt. Hon. A. R. W. Low.

The chamber now comprises close to 700 members, and attendance at the annual meeting is expected to be heavy.

At the gathering new officers will be named.

Dancing on the Green will be staged for the last time tonight at Willows Park. Ernest Livey will be the caller and music will be provided by the Rodeo Racers. There will be no charge for admission. Sponsors are the Oak Bay Kiwanis. Dancing will start at 7:30.

Roy Davis, 2529 Selwyn, was fined $35 in city police court today when convicted of careless driving on Gorge Road Aug. 19. Magistrate H. C. Hall remanded to Thursday consideration of driver's licence suspension.

Police said total damage of $145 was caused when the accused collided with the rear of another automobile which he thought "needed a push."

POSTED TO INDO-CHINA with military component of Canadian delegation to Viet Nam is Major R. A. McAlpine, 46, CO of 4 LAA Battery, Work Point. He leaves for Montreal tonight and for the Far East September 7. Until the new CO, Major W. W. Turner arrives, November 15, he will be replaced by Captain J. L. Miller.

Demolition of the old McGregor Block to make way for an office building to be constructed for Huron and Erie Mortgage Company is expected to get under way early next week. Tenders are being called.

The McGregor Block, located on View between Douglas and Broad, will be joined in extinction by part of the old Colonist building next door. Tenants have been notified to vacate.

A "huge red glow" in the sky seen here Tuesday night was traced to a waste burner at an oil refinery in Anacortes, Wash.

Radio stations were reported "flooded with calls" from persons in Victoria, the Gulf Islands and other southern Vancouver Island communities, reporting the glow.

The explanation given by officials of the refinery at Anacortes was that low lying clouds reflected the glow of the waste fire as far as 35 miles.

Prizes were awarded Monday to Barbara Lyle and Kathleen Dye for their entries in an essay contest based on observations during local YWCA picnic tours.

Fifty boys and girls, aged eight to 12, attended the summer tour to points of interest in Victoria. Their guides were Y-teen graduates Moira McColl and Betty Edge. After each trip, the youngsters wrote essays on their observations, and prizes were awarded to the best in two age groups.

Rotary lunch hour in the Empress Hotel Thursday will be 12:30 instead of the customary noon. Reason for the change is a visit from the Olympic Club, comprising Rotarians from Port Townsend, Port Angeles and Sequim.

Robert Edward Siddall, 738 Wilson, and Marvey McMeekin, 3426 Calumet, were fined $15 and $30, respectively, in city court today for driving over 30 miles an hour.

McMeekin was paced by police at 60 miles an hour on Government; Siddall at 45 miles an hour.

Rev. J. H. Pickford, BA, BTh, dean of the Northwest Bible College in Port Coquitlam, will address a gathering at Central Baptist Church Friday at 8 p.m. His topic will be "How to Choose a Bible School."

Guests totalling almost 200 are expected to attend a civic banquet slated for Thursday, Sept. 6, at Crystal Garden Flamingo Room. The 12:30 p.m. luncheon will honor convention of Institute of Public Administration of Canada. Group represents three levels of government and university personages involved with municipal affairs.

Pulling over to allow another car to pass and striking a parked car cost Jim Louie, 3930 Douglas, $35 for careless driving when he appeared in city police court Tuesday.

Journalists from 17 NATO countries will visit Victoria, likely Sept. 14, on an 18-day tour of Canada.

The tour is the third in Canada by NATO journalists.

Thursday Meetings: Victoria Optimists—Pacific Club, luncheon at noon. Oak Bay Kiwanis—Oak Bay Beach Hotel, dinner at 6:15 p.m. There will be a report of the Salem convention.

Spanish Windows For Nootka Church

BY TONY DICKASON

Spain is providing stained glass windows for the rebuilt Roman Catholic church at Nootka, one of the first churches ever constructed in North America. Spanish Ambassador Eduardo de Callejon disclosed here today.

The aquiline-faced aristocratic ambassador is determined to spark a revival of Spanish cultural interest on the West Coast, and while in Victoria will meet with the chief of the naval museum in Esquimalt.

"In the museum in Madrid are many things of interest which tie in with early Spanish inroads here," he said, "and it is likely your museum would be interested in receiving some of these things."

They would be "a gift."

For instance, Malaspina's scientific expedition to this coast in the 1790s brought many items back to Spain, and his traditions still linger here—a hotel in Nanaimo, for instance, bears his name.

Galiano, Valdez, Quadra—Spanish names abound throughout the area.

The ambassador said he expected to return here for dedication of the windows in the Nootka church.

His excellency tossed out a little known point of history regarding Russia.

Said he: "On three different occasions Spain stopped the Russians from coming here, in 1773, in 1780, and in the 1790s. Perhaps this is one of the reasons they aren't here now."

"They were very imperialistic."

On immigration, he said talks had just started on the federal level, and the situation to date for immigrants had been "quite difficult" because of work contracts required by the Canadian government.

TO IMPROVE
"I think these things will improve."

Vancouver Island, due to climate, would be a location where immigrant Spaniards would be pleased to settle, as well as "because things here are growing and developing so quickly."

The ambassador said company buyers from throughout the world were increasing in his country, buying such items as porcelain while tourists, especially from the United States, had been increasing steadily "the last few years."

He said that his government is endeavoring to establish a link with CPA's, over-the-pole buyers from throughout the world, and this is one of the reasons he is now visiting the west coast.

To help boost trade, a Spanish trade office, the first, will be opened in Montreal this fall.

Surviving are his widow, Mary, 3251 Bellevue; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert J. Edmonds, 2568 Thompson, and two sisters at the family home.

Hotel, Parking Garage To Cost $1.5 Million

Downtown Site Sought For Start Next Year

Construction of a luxury $1,500,000 hotel and adjoining mechanical parking garage in the downtown area of Victoria is planned to start early next year.

Only hitch to the scheme is acquisition of suitable property, the Times was told today by A. M. Arnold of Vancouver, in the city this week to iron out final details.

Negotiations for a block-long property in the heart of the city now are in progress, Mr. Arnold said, and a further announcement is expected within three weeks.

If these negotiations should fail, the promoters have an alternate site in the downtown area that would be suitable for the hotel, first of its type in Canada.

The six-story, 100-room hotel will be completely modern in design, with beds that fold back into the walls to leave large sitting rooms furnished with settees.

The five-level garage, which will be filled by means of electrically-operated elevators, has a capacity of 275 cars. It is designed to handle day and night commercial parking as well as hotel business.

Architects for the Victoria project are Wade, Stockhill & Armour, 1020 Government.

Plans call for renting of space to stores on the ground level of the hotel.

The hotel will have a main front entrance as well as a side entrance from the garage, which will be joined to the hotel by a narrow breezeway.

Construction is expected to take about one year.

Accidental Death, Verdict of Jury

Testimony at an inquest today into the death last Thursday of Aaro Manninen, 29, revealed he had been "very nervous for about a month" before his car took a fatal plunge from a steep slope on Mount Douglas.

His boarding mate at 514 Dallas road, Kally Kajalder, testified that Manninen "seemed to be like a drunk" on the morning of the accident, but didn't smell of liquor.

"He was very nervous for about a month," Kajalder said. Coroner's jury returned a verdict of "accidental death" after one minute's deliberation.

HORRIBLE

"There is a remote possibility of suicide but you'd hardly think a man would take this horrible way of doing away with himself," remarked Coroner E. C. Hart.

Manninen was pinned behind the steering wheel and his car was "completely demolished" when Sanich constables Norman Baker and Robert Coleman spotted the wreck on a routine patrol at 10:40 p.m.

Dr. E. L. McNiven who arrived at the scene within a half-hour, estimated that Manninen had died approximately two hours before.

"I could detect no odor of alcohol in the car or around the body," he told the jury.

FRACTURED SKULL

He said the victim had suffered two fractures in the left arm, a fractured left thigh bone and circular cuts below the knee. He traced immediate cause of death to a fractured skull.

The death car apparently came around a sweeping curve on Mount Douglas, then veered left, crashing into a tree 20 feet down the slope.

Auto wreckers examined emergency and foot brakes and found them in good condition. There was no indication on the road that Manninen had applied brakes, said Constable Baker.

Road surface was dry and there was good visibility.

Constable Baker estimated the speed of the car at 70 miles per hour, basing his estimate on the amount of damage.

150 Radiologists Meeting in City

National convention of the Canadian Society of Radiological Technicians started its 14th annual gathering here today in the Empress Hotel, with 150 delegates registered.

An address of welcome on behalf of the provincial government was scheduled to be given this afternoon by Health Minister Eric Martin, on behalf of the city by Acting Mayor W. F. Pinfold, and on behalf of the Canadian Medical Association by the president of the British Columbia division, Dr. E. W. Boak, of Victoria.

ASK The TIMES

Q.—Will you kindly enlighten me concerning the origin of the term "visiting firemen" as applied to out-of-town colleagues in a similar profession or business descending upon one for a visit? B.C.H.

A.—This column has failed to find trustworthy documentary matter on this subject. It is known, however, that in a number of small cities on this continent it was the custom of members of their volunteer fire departments to sleep in the firehall to speed up their response to alarms, and any member of another town's fire department would usually find a spare bed in the firehall of the town he was visiting he might use without cost. It is suggested the term visiting firemen may have had its origin in that friendly practice, and that with the passage of decades it was extended to organizations other than fire brigades.

This explanation is plausible. Answers which question answered in The Times, addressed to "Ask The Times" Editor. Questions and answers will be published daily.

All questions should deal with matters of fact and be of general interest. The Times does not undertake to solve conundrums.

Economic Survey May Be Asked In Merger Probe

Group Envisages Study by Province

The B.C. department of municipal affairs may be called upon to furnish a technical survey of Greater Victoria municipal economics.

There were indications today the request might be the next step by a committee formed by Greater Victoria councils to study the long-discussed amalgamation issue.

Questioned on the matter today, Victoria Acting Mayor W. F. Pinfold said such a step is "a good suggestion."

But he said he would not call for the move without further consultation with other city delegates to the committee which held its first meeting on Tuesday.

At the Tuesday meeting, ex-officio member, deputy minister of municipal affairs J. E. Brown, said:

"We are prepared to give any assistance we can according to your evaluation of the problem."

He said there were two phases to the problem of amalgamation—the economics and the social implications.

The deputy minister felt the social implications must be decided by each municipality.

"Does each municipality want to retain its identity?"

Acting mayor Pinfold said he felt the committee would have to go further into the question than the recently-completed report by the Canadian Research Institute of Canada.

EXPERTS HEADED
"If councils are intent on exploring the issue it will cost money to dig out the facts concerning each department of municipal business. We are only laymen. It would require engineering experts. Would we be willing to foot the bill?"

He agreed today that perhaps the provincial government would be willing to undertake such a report.

At the next meeting of the amalgamation committee, a digest of the Citizens' Research Institute report will be studied.

It is anticipated that if the committee is to go on from there, the actual mechanics of a move toward union (a field glossed over in the earlier report) will have to be explored.

Before the municipalities will consider spending money for such a technical survey, it is thought likely an approach will be made to the provincial department.

Sunset Parade Thursday To Be Last of Season

Last sunset parade of the summer takes place at the Legislative lawn Thursday at 8 p.m., when 80 Reserve Trades Training Plan members of 2455 Aircraft Control and Warning Squadron, RCAF (Aux.) conduct the ceremony.

A special event for them, it also will be graduation, inspection and awards night for 60 airmen and 20 airwomen who have been trained over the summer months in aircraft control operation.

Inspection will be by Wing Commander R. T. Paul, chief training officer of 5 Air Division, Vancouver, and will be at RCAF Urban Centre parade square, Yates at Quadra, at 7 p.m.

Funeral Today For Mrs. Haynes, Old-Time Citizen

Funeral services were scheduled to be held this afternoon for Mrs. Matilda Amie Haynes, daughter of a pioneer Victoria family and lifetime resident here.

She died Tuesday at the age of 79, Rev. Archdeacon A. E. del Nunn was to officiate at the service in Hayward's chapel at 3 p.m. Burial will follow at Colwood Cemetery.

Mrs. Haynes was the widow of Arthur Edward Haynes, founder of one of Victoria's oldest real estate firms, who died in 1933.

She is survived by three daughters, Marjorie and Kathleen, who lived with their mother at 921 Foul Bay Road, and Mrs. L. H. Davies; two sons, Harold E. and Stanley Arthur, and four grandchildren, all of Victoria.

Auto Workers Vote For Strike Action

Employees of nine out of 10 leading Victoria automotive dealers voted to strike Tuesday night in support of new contract demands.

Meetings of executive and general membership of Automotive Workers' Federal Union will be held to decide a strike deadline.

Hope for peaceful settlement through further negotiations is held by both sides. A management spokesman said there "very definitely" would be further meetings with the union.

Vote in favor of strike action was 236, with 113 against. More than 400 men would be affected by a strike, conceivably more if the work stoppage were sustained.

MOST CONTINUE
There are 166 garages offering mechanical repairs in Greater Victoria, most of which would continue operations.

There would be no general closure of garages and service stations, and the motoring public will be able to purchase petroleum products as usual.

The union wants a 22-cent-an-hour wage hike to $2.10, 40-hour work week with 40-hour wage guarantee, full union shop and statutory holidays.

It's Back-to-School Time And Stores Are Ready, Too

By PENNY SAVER

The stores are overflowing with back-to-school supplies, so I'll get into the act, too, and tell you about a three-ring loose-leaf binder that has a new feature added. There's an extension bookholder attached by wide elastic tape. Rather than carry books precariously perched on top of the case, tuck them into the flap and there they'll stay neat, solid and handy. The flap holds three or four books, and the elastic makes it possible to tuck them in snugly. The binder itself is made of a "look-like" leather that's embossed. It's available in blue, tan and oxblood colors. The cost is $4.95.

Six scenes from sports are depicted on the covers of another loose-leaf binder. This one will appeal to the boys. Inside are two large pockets, and on one are sections for a pass booklet, an eraser, ruler, pencil and note pad. This, too, is a three-ring binder, and costs $4.95.

Some time ago I mentioned plastic brief cases that would be good for music. Now you can buy the ones I mentioned, formerly priced at $1.50, at $1.25, and similar ones, with the same plastic slide zipper and pressed seams, at 89 cents. The colors are red, green, black, brown or tan.

Novel change purses with a local flavor can be found in a local leathergoods store. These purses are shaped like sailors' and officers' hats. The sailor hats are either black or white, in the softest of leather. The officers' peaked caps have gold embossed "braid" on the peaks, and also come in winter or summer colors. On the bands of the hats are written "HMCS Magnificent," "HMCS Stadacona," or "HMCS Shearwater." The sailors' hats are $1.50 and officers' caps, $1.95.

Round straw mats that serve as place mats or as centrepiece mats are selling at the low price of 69 cents. They come in a bright yellow, red, pink or black, and are a good size. They'll last and last, and will fit with almost any decor.

A Canadian co-op paper has proposed a set of rules to guide shoppers, and I thought you might be interested. Here's the first one on the list: Know as thoroughly as possible the goods and services available in your community.

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

At least half the battle for attractiveness is won when a woman becomes well groomed. Even a sparkling personality loses its bang when it is packaged in wispy hair, a muddy complexion or poorly cared for fingernails.

The appearance of being beautifully groomed doesn't just happen. It is impossible to achieve if you just give yourself a little hurried attention at the last minute. The shining hair, the glowing skin, the lovely figure and attractive nails reflect constant attention. You are certain to be deficient in grooming and to be caught unaware some time unless you have a plan.

No one routine would fit the lives of all women but there are certain essentials which every woman should observe and must fit into her daily schedule at the time most convenient for her.

For instance, if you live alone you may want to do your exercise in the morning before you go to work and you may wish to apply an oily cream at night. If you are married you may find it much more convenient for you to take your exercises after the family leaves in the morning for work and for school. You will not want to wear cold cream at night and probably will wish to let it soak into your skin, if it is dry, during the daytime while you go about your household duties. This is an excellent time for skin lubrication. You can leave the cream on until after you have had your bath in the afternoon.

There are so very many things we are told we should do for health and good looks that it is sometimes discouraging or at least bewildering. For that reason I have planned a daily routine in which I have placed only the things which seem to me to be essential.

It may appear almost impossible to fit this care of yourself into your busy life. However, if you will work out a routine and stick with it whenever possible you will not miss the lost minutes which are used in this way. You soon will take your rest period for granted just as you do the knowledge that you will eat three meals a day.

Each woman's routine must differ as her life does, but a few minutes a day invested in YOU will actually ward off the aging process for you. You owe yourself some care and some time.

If you would like to have the leaflet "Essential Daily Routine", send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No. 19 to Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

Report May Be Released

WILLIAMS LAKE, B.C. (CP)—Attorney-General Robert Bonner said Wednesday he may consider releasing the RCMP report on the Sommers-Sturdy case.

Mr. Bonner, aboard the Pacific Great Eastern Railway's inaugural train, said he had no comment on the Supreme Court decision Tuesday clearing Deane Finlayson, Progressive Conservative leader, and two Vancouver newspapers of contempt for publishing facts of the case.

There have been repeated references to the report and demands that it be made public.

"I have no comment on the court decision," said Mr. Bonner. "But if the court finding requires me to consider releasing the RCMP report, I will do so on my return to Victoria."

The report was prepared by Inspector W. J. Butler of the RCMP after five months of investigation into matters mentioned by Vancouver lawyer David Sturdy before the Sloan forestry commission.

East Coast Road
Seen to North VI

Extension of the Island Highway from Kelsey Bay on the east coast of Vancouver Island to Port Hardy and Quatsino near the northern tip is likely to start next year, Highway Minister P. A. Gagliardi said this afternoon.

He announced agreement had been reached between the provincial government and Alaska Pine and Cellulose Ltd. on sharing the cost of the road.

Mr. Gagliardi said department engineers will be sent into the area "as soon as possible" to determine the best route. He said it may follow the coast or run through the Nimpkish Valley.

Alaska Pine has logging operations at a number of points in the area the road would reach, but the minister would not say what the company's contribution to the cost of the undertaking would be.

Mr. Gagliardi said the Black Ball Ferry Co. has expressed interest in establishing a ferry service between Kitimat and Port Hardy when the road link has been completed.

The minister said that eventually the upper island road and ferry should become one of the main routes to the upcoast aluminum centre.

The road likely will start at a point three miles inland from Kelsey Bay. The coast route is the shortest, the minister said, but may be too costly because of difficult terrain. Total length of the road would be between 50 and 60 miles.

Judge Throws Out
Was Attack on Premier Bennett

By JACK BEST

VANCOUVER (CP)—Applications to commit the leader of the Progressive Conservative party in British Columbia, the Vancouver Sun and the Vancouver Herald on contempt citations were rejected Tuesday in the B.C. Supreme Court.

Mr. Justice J. O. Wilson, delivering judgment three hours after conclusion of the speedy 1½-day hearing, ordered the plaintiff, former lands minister R. E. Sommers, to pay all costs of the action.

There was no evidence, he said, to suggest that any of the respondents intended to taint the source of justice or to prejudice a fair trial of Mr. Sommers' slander action against Vancouver lawyer David Sturdy.

IN LIMELIGHT
He said the fact that Mr. Sommers has made himself a candidate in the Sept. 19 provincial election "makes inevitable some exploration of his record as a legislative member and as a minister."

The contempt actions were brought by Alfred Bull, counsel for the former lands minister, following a political speech which Deane B.C. Progressive Conservative leader, Finlayson, made in North Vancouver last Monday and which was reported by the two newspapers.

In his address the Progressive Conservative leader read portions of the amended statement of defence which Mr. Sturdy filed against a slander suit launched by Mr. Sommers for statements the barrister made here before a royal commission on forestry last December.

Mr. Sturdy charged that Mr. Sommers was guilty of corruption in the discharge of his duties, and his statement of defence gave details of the charges.

The minister resigned from the cabinet Feb. 27 but retained his seat as Social Credit MLA for Rossland-Trail.

Mr. Justice Wilson coupled his dismissal of the contempt applications with what he termed "a word of warning." He said in reading the verdict that Senator J. W. deB. Farris, counsel for the Vancouver Herald, had suggested that actions of the plaintiff put the whole issue of allegations against him into the public domain, "so that henceforth these charges might be freely or publicly discussed."

This may or may not be so, Mr. Justice Wilson said, "but certainly I make no such ruling." He continued:

"I am only concerned with the facts in this case. I only say that what has been done here is not contempt of court under the circumstances."

George Gregory, counsel for lawyer David Sturdy in the Sommers-Sturdy suit, and Liberal nominee for re-election in Victoria, said:

"I am delighted to know that freedom of speech has been restored in this great land of ours."

Mr. Gagliardi said the Black Ball Ferry Co. has expressed interest in establishing a ferry service between Kitimat and Port Hardy when the road link has been completed.

The minister said that eventually the upper island road and ferry should become one of the main routes to the upcoast aluminum centre.

THE EGGS (CLUCK) AND I

Favored contender in egg-laying contest leading up to opening of Saanichton fair Saturday is J. Armstrong's hen Hortense, who is keeping mind on her work, eye on calendar, and eggs in nest. To presstime 45 hens entered had 67 egg total to cluck about. All competitors said they felt like a million, but this total is unlikely.—(Eggs by Hortense, photo by Bill Halkett.)

END TO PUBLIC SCHOOLS AUTHORIZED

Alabama Anti-Negro Voters
Ready To Give Parks Away

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP)—Alabama voters have approved a constitutional amendment to keep Negroes and Whites in separate schools even at the cost of abolishing the public educational system.

The measure allows the state legislature to end public educational facilities and give public funds to private schools.

Closing prices: Pacific Nickel 500 at 39, Beaver Lodge 300 at 46, Royalite 50 at 16.00, Sheep Creek 300 at 1.40, Vanalta 2,000 at 28, Western Plywood 275 at 25.25, Basco 1,500 at 54, Quatsino 500 at 54, Almsworth 1,000 at 10, Canadian Collieries pfd. 1,000 at 94, Powell River 30 at 50.00.

There were 25 patrons and 10 staff members in the cafe at the time of the accident.

The school amendment would give parents a "freedom of choice" in saying whether their children will attend segregated schools. It does not provide for integrated schools.

The parks amendment would permit counties and municipalities to give away or sell any public playgrounds, swimming pools or public housing, if racial segregation was threatened.

Counties with heavy Negro populations went overwhelmingly for the two racial measures in a special election Tuesday. Those with few Negroes generally opposed them. The Negro vote was light, as it always is in Alabama.

Returns from 1,875 of the state's 2,700 boxes gave the school amendment a margin of 97,720 to 63,302.

The same returns, on the parks proposal, gave 86,629 for and 63,439 against.

Stir Crisis

(CP and UP Dispatches)

LONDON—The five-power Suez committee announced tonight it will meet Egyptian president Gamal Abdel Nasser in Cairo Monday to discuss the future of the Suez canal.

Australian Prime Minister R. G. Menzies, chairman of the committee, and his colleagues from the United States, Iran, Sweden and Ethiopia, will fly to Egypt Sunday, the committee said.

Nasser agreed to the meeting date in a message relayed to Menzies tonight by the Egyptian Embassy.

At Washington President Eisenhower today declared firm United States support of the Western plan for settlement of the Suez Canal crisis and urged its backing by every country which believes in "international justice and conciliation."

The president expressed pleasure at Egyptian President Nasser's decision.

Eisenhower's statement, issued after a long conference between the president and State Secretary Dulles, was read to reporters by Dulles.

The statement asserted Eisenhower's belief that it is of "great significance" that 18 of the 22 countries which had agreed upon the conditions contained in the Western plan.

The countries represent 95 per cent of shipping traffic through the Suez, he said.

The statement added, "I am glad that President Nasser is prepared to meet to discuss this program. This program was conceived in an atmosphere of friendly conciliation and, in my opinion, ought to rally behind it the support of all the nations and peoples that believe in the processes of international justice and conciliation."

"The United States government and, I believe, the American people, support this program."

SWIM TRIO

TORONTO (CP)—A ticker-tape parade honoring marathon swimmers Marilyn Bell, 18, Cliff Lumsdon, 25, and their coach, Gus Ryder, will be held Friday, it was announced today.

Miss Bell and Lumsdon, back from successful swims across the strait of Juan de Fuca, are to be driven in convertibles from Union Station up Bay Street, financial heart of the city, to the city hall.

There they will be greeted by Mayor Nathan Phillips and other civic representatives.

HI-JINKS ON INAUGURAL RUN

Early Morning Lynching Mob
Greets PGE-Riding Varmints

WILLIAMS LAKE—Premier Bennett and his trainload of dignitaries aboard the PGE inaugural run were the "victims" today of a mock, old-west robbery and lynching.

The horseplay started two miles outside this Cariboo centre when a posse of gun-toting cowboys blocked the right-of-way.

"Mr. Bennett, Railways Minister Chetwynd and PGE potentate Einar Gunderson were ordered to alight."

whisked into town over a bumpy trail.

More gaily-dressed cowboys and a rough-hewn gallow with three nooses awaited them.

Mr. Bennett, Mr. Chetwynd and Mr. Gunderson were mounted on the gallow and the three ropes were placed around their necks.

"Hanging Sheriff Woody," in real life a Williams Lake board of trade member, read a lengthy charge to the men in the early morning kangaroo court.

"I charge you PGE riding varmints with disturbin' the peace in our once-quiet town," he said, "with clutierin' up our railroad tracks with trains and makin' it unsafe for cows or cowboys to sleep on the right-of-way."

"Continuing the 'sheriff' said, 'The industries which have come from your iron horses are building their factories on the grassy slopes where peace-lovin' citizens once relaxed in the sun.'"

Mr. Bennett pleaded guilty to the charge, while Mr. Chetwynd and Mr. Gunderson pleaded not guilty.

The sheriff then suggested the whole hanging party and the accused retire to the "rat trap saloon."

Thet egg-layin' champion ain't in th' same league with th' PGE.

Chetwynd Orders 'Sabotage' Probe

By NORMAN CRIBBENS
Times Political Reporter

ABOARD THE PGE INAUGURAL TRAIN—Premier Bennett's "Election Special" rolled northward through a festive Cariboo today with an admission by Railways Minister Ralph Chetwynd that he may have cried "wolf" too soon about sabotage in Monday's ill-timed landslide.

Mr. Chetwynd conceded that a long piece of detonating wire, discovered hanging from the top of a cliff which collapsed near Horseshoe Bay was the only clue pointing to possible sabotage.

Nevertheless, the minister said he had ordered B.C. inspectors of railways R. W. Swanson to investigate whether the rock slide was a "natural fall" or man-made plot.

Mr. Swanson said the investigation will start when he returns to Vancouver later this week.

The 20-hour delay caused by the slide has failed to dampen the enthusiasm of whistle-stop towns along the railroad which have turned out en masse to greet the train.

At every stop, the premier has a special word for "my old friend Harry Perry," former Liberal education minister, and "my Conservative friend Herbert Anson," always a loyal supporter of this railroad.

Scenes of wild-west horseplay broke out in such centres as Williams Lake, Pemberton and Lillooet as citizens whooped it up.

A make-believe holdup by masked "bandits" greeted the premier and his party at Williams Lake.

And Premier Bennett continues to squeeze the last ounce of glamour out of Monday's landslide.

"Never was so much rock moved so cheaply in such good time as last night," he told the people of Lillooet.

Mr. Bennett drew cheers with this paraphrase at the little agricultural settlement of Pemberton and earlier at Squamish he had the populace waving flags in salute to:

Convicted Man, Tried 3 Times, Will Go Free

REGINA (CP)—Jacob A. Dyck, 46-year-old laborer, likely will be freed in about two weeks after six months' custody in which he was tried three times for murder and was saved from the gallows by an Appeal Court order. The first two juries failed to agree.

Charged with murder in the bludgeoning slaying of Mike Todor, 74, Dyck was convicted on his third trial and sentenced to be hanged.

An appeal court wiped out the verdict and granted the defence request for a new trial.

A stay of proceedings was filed here last week by R. M. Barr, QC, crown prosecutor.

YOUBOU—Forty tiny swimmers, all of less than three years' age, stole the show at the annual regatta here Sunday from the professional swimmers, divers, water skiers and water ballet.

Instructed by Mrs. Marilyn Jackson, the tots splashed into the water, and even those that could scarcely walk had their share of fun in swimming about. Their training was a part of a program of water safety among children of the community.

circumstances that here exist. I do not say that other and different actions, under these or other circumstances, may not constitute contempt."

He had read Mr. Finlayson's complete speech and found that his attack was not on the plaintiff but on Premier Bennett for calling an election "before the serious charges made against a former member of his government had been aired in the courts."

The Vancouver Herald had printed verbatim the charges and Mr. Finlayson's warning to his listeners not to judge them. The Vancouver Sun had published a paraphrase of the charges coupled with a fair report of Mr. Finlayson's warning.

Every allegation in the plea of justification read by Mr. Finlayson and printed by the newspapers had already been brought to public notice by publication in the press March 2 and June 23, Mr. Justice Wilson held.

"The prospective jurors who may try the case of Sommers vs. Sturdy were not told by Mr. Finlayson anything new, anything that had not already been lawfully published in proceedings in court and in the legislature."

The issue was whether the republication would prejudice the fair trial of the slander action, "and I say it will not because the charge made has already been widely disseminated."

WHITEWASH AND TAR

Mr. Sommers had not only denied the charges made against him, he had alleged that those charges were part of a plot or conspiracy to which he "must mean" Mr. Sturdy was a party.

"He has further, still within the armor of legislative immunity, said that the chief witness to be called against him is a criminal, an extortionist."

"He has voiced a thinly veiled threat to have that witness arrested if he returns to British Columbia. He has wielded both the whitewash brush and the tar brush and it ill becomes him to complain of the bare recital by the respondents here of a set of charges already known to the public."

Named in the contempt applications were Mr. Finlayson; the Vancouver Herald and its publisher, Gerald Brown; and the Vancouver Sun, its publisher, Donald Cromie and reporter Frank Walden.

(The Victoria Times carried a full report of Mr. Finlayson's speech in North Vancouver. No action was launched against the Times.)

John Diefenbaker, Progressive Conservative MP for the Saskatchewan riding of Prince Albert, was counsel for Mr. Finlayson. Senator Farris represented the Herald and Douglas McKenzie Brown the Sun.

Mr. Diefenbaker argued that Mr. Finlayson "performed a public duty" by his North Vancouver speech, undeterred "by what, in effect, was a threat against free speech during an election campaign."

OPENS TYRANNY DOOR

He contended that granting of Mr. Sommers' application for a writ of contempt would create a "dangerous precedent." It would close the door to public discussion of public affairs, and would "open the door to tyranny."

"What is the reason inherent in this proceedings?" the Prince Albert MP asked. "What happened to Mr. Sommers? He made his statement in the legislature, he tried the case in advance with himself adopting the cloak of righteousness, with his opponents pictured as detectives and dissemblers..."

Mr. Diefenbaker said that Mr. Sommers finally took the contempt proceedings after the question had become a matter of public significance and importance, saying that he had said his piece and intended to close the lips of public criticism.

"I submit the issue is so serious that if this can be done you thereby deprive public opinion from receiving the benefits of public discussion when there is any suggestion of dereliction of duty and simply issue a writ thereby drying up the wells of public information," Mr. Diefenbaker concluded.

Decision Hailed by Diefenbaker

U.K. Cracks Down On Cyprus Bishop

The Supreme Court decision in the Sturdy-Sommers contempt action was described here today by John Diefenbaker as a "momentous landmark in the continued fight for preservation of freedom under the parliamentary system."

"An abiding principle was at stake," Mr. Diefenbaker said, "that the wells of public information should not be dried up by a private action through the courts of a man in public life."

Mr. Diefenbaker, prominent Progressive-Conservative who was defence counsel for B.C. party leader Deane Finlayson in the court action, was the overnight guest of Maj. Gen. G. R. Pearkes in Victoria.

He had intended spending a brief holiday on the west coast but left this morning for his home in Prince Albert, Sask. He will take no part in the B.C. election campaign.

Regarding the contempt decision Mr. Diefenbaker said:

"If the principle were accepted that when criticism is levelled against a man in public life a simple action in the courts could seal the lips of his critics, then never again would it be possible to carry on a public discussion of public matters."

HOME GARDEN. By HILDA BEASTALL

Gay Winter Garden Spots Planned Now

As we enjoy the closing days of a wonderful August, we do well to give some thought and time to preparing winter bright spots in our gardens.

All the winter treasures should be as near together as possible to create maximum effect, for few of them have the extravagant colors of other seasons.

Another essential in my opinion is to create beauty spots where they are visible from a window, or beside the most used door or walk near the house.

The first of the winter bulbs to flower may be the winter aconite (eranthus) at Christmas time, or the early crocus species Crocus ancyrensis, a deep golden yellow. Others of the small flowering winter crocus which follow rapidly during January and February are C. biflorus, white with purple stripes; C. fleischeri, white with red anthers; several lovely named varieties of C. chrysanthus in blue, yellow and white; and lavender, purple and ruby shades of C. tomasianus.

A snowfall may cover the blooms for a few days, but they emerge unharmed as the snow melts. Prolonged cold may delay flowering, but these small treasures of winter gardens are worth more to us than the more popular late arrivals.

The snowdrops will usually make their appearance during late January or early February. The small flowering kind is Galanthus nivalis, the much larger one is G. elwesii.

Plan a small space now where they will be most noticeable, and the early crocus species Crocus ancyrensis, a deep golden yellow. Others of the small flowering anation, completely support the 18-nation proposal thus arrived at in London which, fully respecting the sovereignty of Egypt, would assure a peaceful solution of this great

Cairo newspapers charged today that a British-directed spy ring had plotted to overthrow the Nasser regime with a coup d'etat similar to that which ousted Mohammed Mossadegh in Iran in 1953.

The Egyptians appeared to be setting the stage for a sensational international spy trial.

All Cairo papers carried a report that James Swinburn, the British arrested as the alleged espionage ring leader, was plotting a coup d'etat. Since the report was carried in all papers, it appeared to have official sanction.

THIRD BRITON ARRESTED
Egypt put another British subject behind bars today in the wake of her official charges that two British embassy secretaries were involved in a spy ring.

The British embassy said James Zarb, a British resident of Egypt, was placed under arrest.

The Egyptians already are holding Swinburn, business manager for the British-owned Arab News Agency, and Charles Pittcock, an official of the Egyptian Radio-Television Co.

Four Egyptians have been officially named as their accomplices, and Cairo newspapers reported today that four more Egyptians—one an Egyptian naval officer—had been seized as a result of an alleged confession by Swinburn.

TO SEE SICK MOTHER

12,000-Mile Trip For Stowaways

DURBAN, South Africa (AP)—Five freckled stowaways turned up here Tuesday, bent on making a 12,000-mile ocean voyage to visit their sick mother in Holland.

They are the Zandvliet children, Paulina, 6, Robert, 8, Gerard, 9, and Adriane, 12. In charge of the operation was Anna, 21.

The 20,000-ton liner Orontes was just out of Fremantle, western Australia, when they appeared. One after another five freckled faces popped out from behind the superstructures on the ship's games deck. They formed up in line, tall Anna in the lead, little Paulina bringing up the rear, and trooped off to the captain's cabin.

Anna told their story to a surprised ship's master, Commander W. B. Thompson.

"These are my brothers and sisters," she said. "We emigrated with our parents to Australia just over two years ago. It was nice there and we thought we were going to start life again. Then my mother was taken ill."

The mother had to be sent back to Holland. Then the father was taken ill, Anna said, and it looked like the family would have to seek public assistance. That's when they stowed away. Commander Thompson sent off a cable to their mother

Queen Juliana and Prince Bernhard of the Netherlands arrived home by plane Tuesday from holiday in Greece. In an announcement broadcast on the radio Friday, Juliana and Bernhard said they had solved "difficulties which had arisen." An authoritative source explained that the Queen had ended relations with faith-healer Greet Hofmans, 61, which had caused friction between the royal couple.

Grasshoppers Invade New York State Cities

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Grasshoppers have invaded downtown Albany and Schenectady. They hopped along with pedestrians Tuesday on the main thoroughfares, lighting on noses and arms and leaping blindly against buildings and store windows. Dr. George G. Gyrisco, professor of entomology, said the Albany-Schenectady migration appeared to be "local"—that is, of not more than 50 miles.

BONUS PLAYER

Record Crowd Expected At Saanich Celebration

Volunteer Workers Push Preparation For 50th Birthday of Municipality

Saanich municipal employees Tuesday rolled up their sleeves and began clearing the underbrush and reading the grounds at Beaver lake for a record 15,000 people expected to attend the municipality's 50th birthday celebrations.

Fifty volunteer workers, including heads of departments, clerks, policemen, firemen and municipal yard employees, have already made vast improvements to the lake site for the big birthday party.

BEACH EXTENDED

They have installed concrete picnic tables, constructed new roads, cleared more parking spaces for cars and spread 600 yards of new sand to extend and improve the beach. They have improved the lighting system, constructed a black-top strip for sports and made a new diving float.

The park will be closed to the public Friday night to permit employees to install a grandstand and other facilities for the party.

Official opening will be at 7 p.m. Saturday when Reeve Arthur Ash will introduce Works Minister W. N. Chant, who will represent Premier W. A. C. Bennett.

The actual start of the day's celebrations will be at 9:30 a.m. when 68 swimmers will take part in a two-mile swim, starting at Happyland and ending at Beaver Lake concession hall. The swim will last about an hour.

MARATHONERS PRESENT

Bill Muir, who came second in the marathon Strait race Sunday, will present the municipal trophy to the winner of the Elk-Beaver Lakes swim.

Saanich swimmer Ben Laughren, who won the marathon, will also be honored on the occasion. He will be presented with a special plaque, to commemorate his Port Angeles to Church Point strait swim.

Honored guests at the celebrations will be some 70 pioneers who settled in Saanich when the municipality was still mainly a vast forest area. Special transportation will be provided for the pioneers.

The musicians' union will also provide, free of charge, two orchestras for modern and folk dancing, as well as a 20-piece band for a band concert in the afternoon.

Throughout the day there will be sports. Council members will operate most of the refreshment concessions. Over 1,200 ice cream bars will also be given to children who will be treated to pony "rides" donated by T. Eaton Co.

Kemano Man Wins Fist Fight With Bear

KEMANO, B.C. (CP) — Gordon Cameron said he awoke Sunday morning to find his kitchen being raided by a large black bear. He tried to appease the bear with a drink of fruit juice. Bruin drank the liquid, then eyed Cameron who leaped towards the door. However, he didn't leap fast enough and stopped a right hook to the face from the bear. Cameron picked himself up and smashed his unwelcome visitor on the nose. The bear howled in surprise and fled from the house.
